Senate Backs Bill for Meat Import Quota

U. S. Officials Hope Measure Will be Rejected by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials today looked to the House to kill a meat import quota bill passed by an overwhelming 73-15 Senate margin.

The legislation, long sought by the livestock industry, won votes from 50 Democrats and 22 Republicans late Tuesday after a six-hour Senate debate.

Only nine Democrats and six Republicans, mostly from large consumer states, opposed it.

The bill would establish quotas on beef, veal and mutton imports based on 1959-63 levels. This would mean a cut to about 1.2 billion pounds from the record 1.7 billion level of last year — a 30 per cent reduction.

Predict Higher Prices

The bill's foes said the measure had a strong political appeal in the Senate because the cattle industry has become nationwide and affects a majority of the states.

But they argued the bill would inevitably lead to higher prices and that the consumer interest would be more important in the House.

The administration was counting on the strong liberal trade majority in the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles all such legislation, to defeat the meat bill.

The measure's Senate supporters said that meat imports

Testimony by Valachi Topic At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano is expected to key his testimony to today on drug traffic to hitherto secret testimony by mobster Joseph Valachi.

Giordano is appearing before the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, which is holding hearings on the illicit flow of narcotic drugs into the United States and Canada.

The committee released testimony Tuesday that was taken in secret last fall from Valachi about his venture into the drug business. Valachi, now serving a life term for murder and narcotics offenses, said he was double-crossed by nine partners in the crime syndicate "Cosa Nostra."

Valachi said he lost his borrowed investment in narcotics only to be "bawled out" by Vito Genovese, who pocketed the profit from heroin smuggled from France.

Giordano warned against any relaxation of pressure on traffickers and addicts in endorsing the need for additional legal weapons against narcotics.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has introduced a bill to legalize telephone wiretapping by police if authorized by secret court order.

Youth Killed When Souvenir Explodes

World War II Shell Goes Off as Winneconne Boys Tamper With It

WINNECONNE — Souvenirs can be explosive and deadly.

Two Winneconne youths found that out Tuesday in a garage where they were tampering with a 5-inch tapered metal cylinder. One of the youths, Dale Gehrke, 16, was killed instantly.

The other, Jerry Wenzel, 17, received critical injuries from "shrapnel-type pieces of metal" all over his body. He underwent 4½ hours of emergency surgery at Mercy Hospital in Oshkosh.

Winnebago County Sheriff Richard "Bud" Lowell said today he believes the detonated object was a souvenir from World War II—a 37mm anti-tank shell.

The explosion took place about 3:20 p.m. Tuesday in the garage of Wenzel's parents.

According to a fragmentary story told to authorities by Wenzel, the boys found the shell in a can in the garage. Lowell said it may have been left there by a previous owner.

The youths put the object in a vice on a work bench in the garage. While Gehrke stood behind the vice, holding it, Wenzel struck the shell with a hammer, detonating it.

The blast threw each boy about four feet backwards and Gehrke was killed instantly. Pieces of shrapnel struck Gehrke in the legs, abdomen, arms, neck and head. Wenzel was hit in the abdomen.

After the explosion, Wenzel staggered out of the garage and called to neighbors for help.

The explosion shattered the steel vice and imbedded pieces of metal in the garage walls. Winneconne Police Chief Garrett Peterson described the explosion as being "like a hand grenade."

Plan Search

Peterson said a thorough search would be made of the garage to see if there are more shells around.

Lowell said today he is sending pieces of the exploded vice along with "shrapnel-like pieces of metal" to the State Crime Laboratory in Madison to determine exactly what the object was.

Neighbors described the explosion as a "terrible blast." It shattered several windows in the area.

At least $340,000 of this amount is never recovered from the servicemen who get the erroneous payments, the congressional agency added.

The most common error, it reported, is the failure to make proper deductions for U.S. savings bonds, government life insurance and support of dependents on allotment requests.

The GAO said mistakes occur primarily because Army personnel and finance workers are not properly trained, do not remain on the job long enough to learn it properly, have to perform other military duties and "do not exercise the proper degree of care in their work."

Loss of 3 Planes Laid To Navigational Error

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist air force said a navigational error by the lead plane apparently caused the crash of three military transport planes into a mountain in south Formosa.

Ranger 7 Expected to Crash On Lighted Section of Moon

Laboratory Director Predicts Completion on Target Area

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — half midcourse maneuver was a The camera-carrying Ranger 7 67-mile-an-hour change in speed spacecraft probably will hit its — termed a kick in the head — target area of the lighted side of designed to bring Ranger 7 on the moon, a space scientist said today after an apparently successful midway maneuver of the rocket.

May be Landing Spot

The area, called the Sea of Clouds by ancient astronomers who imagined the flat spaces on the moon were bodies of water, was chosen as a photographic target because it could be a good landing spot for U.S. astronauts within a few years.

Pickering, obviously elated, said it appears the spacecraft did what it was supposed to do, "but we must analyze tracking data for several hours before we can determine the impact area precisely."

Ranger 7, latest attempt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to take closeup pictures of the surface of the moon, was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Tuesday morning.

Politics, Riots Discussed by Rights Leaders

Wilkins Points to Possibility of Further Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the nation's major civil rights organizations meet in a "summit conference" today, with Northern race riots and national politics high on the agenda.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, warned in his call for the meeting of the possibility of "increasingly violent and futile disorder."

Besides Wilkins, those scheduled to meet at the NAACP headquarters are Whitney M. Young, executive director of the Urban League; A. Philip Randolph, chairman of the National Negro American Labor Council; John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee; James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality; and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Challenge at Polls

In his invitation to the other leaders, Wilkins called the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as the Republican candidate for president a factor that could "produce the sternest challenge we have yet seen."

He had said shortly after the Republican convention that

13 Indicted as Postal Burglars

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury has indicted 13 men described by federal prosecutors as "the largest gang of burglars to plague the Post Office Department since its founding" in 1742.

The office of U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey in Brooklyn gave that description of the men, charged with looting seven New Jersey post offices.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin R. Follner said the gang set two records:

— The largest stamp burglary, a $77,000 haul at the Fairview (N.J.) post office last Jan. 12.

— The largest money order burglary, which netted blanks with a maximum value of $592,820 at the Keyport (N.J.) post office last March 12.

Europeans Stranded In Congo Ask for Help

BUKAVU, the Congo (AP) — A distress message from a group of Europeans stranded in the rebel-held Congo city of Kindu was monitored Tuesday in Burundi and relayed to Bukavu, 200 miles east of Kindu.

Most of the Europeans are employees of a Belgian railway company.

40 or More Die at Hands Of Fanatics

BY JOHN McCUSLAND LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — Northern Rhodesia's British governor and African prime minister flew today to the bushland area where 1,200 African troops, police and their white officers are trying to put down a religious outbreak that has cost at least 40 lives.

The governor, Sir Evelyn Hone, assumed emergency powers Tuesday after a week's rampage of murder, arson and looting by the spear-wielding Lumpa sect of religious fanatics.

Women Leads "Crusade"

The Lumpas are led by an African "prophetess," Alice Leshima, who claims she died and returned to life three days later to lead a religious crusade against witchcraft.

"There will be no appeasement with the sect. This violence has got to end," Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda told newsmen as he and Hone left for Chinsali, 500 miles northeast of Lusaka and the center of the violence.

The sect destroyed a village 30 miles south of Chinsali Tuesday, an official spokesman said, then ambushed a police riot squad rushing to the rescue. A white officer was killed and another was seriously wounded. Police killed five attackers and wounded two.

Immune Prophetess Says

Utilizing a blend of Christian theology and superstition, Alice has taught her followers that the sect war cry of "Jericho" will turn bullets into water. They reportedly charge into police gunfire without fear.

The current wave of violence stems from a long history of friction between the United National Independence party of Kenneth Kaunda, who will head the government of this central African territory when it gains independence from Britain later this year.

Kaunda, announcing the British governor's assumption of emergency powers, told Parliament: "We are determined to

Viet Cong Units Driven Back In Assault on City

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist Viet Cong units attacked a district capital 30 miles north of Saigon Tuesday but were beaten off with possibly high casualties.

Viet Cong forward units got to within 1,200 yards of Ben Cat and lobbed 18 heavy mortar rounds into a regimental headquarters before being pushed back into the jungle by artillery and fighter bombers.

A Vietnamese spokesman claimed that 300 Viet Cong were killed or wounded in the engagement, which began early in the morning and lasted until evening.

American advisers were more conservative in estimating Viet Cong losses, although they were told by a Vietnamese soldier who was briefly a Viet Cong prisoner that they lost 186.

"We will never really know how many of them got hit," an adviser said. "Our observers craft out there at midday saw them carting off their dead and wounded."

Government casualties were 25 killed, 23 wounded and 30 missing.

N Vietnamese sources estimated Viet Cong strength at 500.

Proposals Face Bitter Attacks

Many of California's Redwoods Endangered by Freeway Projects

BY BILL BOYARSKY SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A primeval beach and nearby redwood trees which were living before Christ have touched off a rebellion among state park officials against California's powerful freeway builders.

Tossing protocol aside, members of the State Park Commission and other state officials have publicly criticized the California Highway Commission and demanded a limit on its power to condemn park land for freeways.

Auto Too Important

"We have almost established in modern life a divine attitude toward the automobile," said Charles A. DeTurk, director of the State Department of Parks and Recreation.

He says Prairie Creek Redwood State Park, on the Northern California coast, is threatened by a proposal by highway engineers to build a freeway through it.

"We love redwoods as well as they do, or better," replied Robert A. Bradford, administrator of the Highway Transportation Agency and chairman of the Highway Commission.

The 1965 legislature likely will be asked to settle the fight.

The battleground is about 300 miles north of San Francisco along a narrow, two-lane road through the redwood forests. Officially known as U.S. 101, it's famed throughout the world as the redwood highway.

The highway also is the lifeline of California's north coastal area. Every day, it is jammed with big trucks carrying newly cut timber to big cities and bringing food, clothing and other supplies to small communities.

At Prairie Creek, the two-lane road cuts through a forest with trees so tall that tourists have developed sore necks from looking at them.

The State Park Commission, admitting the need for widening of the road, opposes two of three alternatives being considered by the Division of Highways. One would follow the present 101, and would mean destruction of some of the park's most popular redwood groves. Another would slice across Gold Bluff Beach and, park officials say, ruin one of the nation's last undeveloped beaches and destroy a memorial redwood grove.

Park men back a third alternative, on a rugged ridge seven miles east of the beach. It, too, would mean the loss of redwoods, but the park commission contends the beach, soon to be acquired by the state, should be left unspoiled.

Favor Freeway

Local interests, saying the ridge route is $6 million more expensive, favor the beach freeway.

The State Highway Commission, making further studies at the request of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, hasn't decided on a route. But Sam Helmer, Division of Highways district engineer here, has indicated he favors a beach freeway.

Judges Weep

Witnesses' descriptions of suffering and courage often cause judges and courtroom spectators to weep.

Witnesses have related that nearly all Jewish and Slavic children who arrived at the camps were killed immediately by gassing, shooting, beating, hanging or injections of carbolic acid administered into their heart muscles. They have testified that babies born to women inmates were tossed alive into ovens or into open fires so as to spare the costs of more expensive methods of murder.

They have described how the SS Elite Guard—staged mock courts to terrify older children before executing them. They have told of medical "experiments" performed without anesthetics on youngsters by SS physicians and how some children fought their tormentors with a ferocity spawned by desperation.

Witnesses have related how children—knowing the gas chambers awaited them if they failed the size test—stood on tip toes in vain attempts to show how big they were.

When they failed they often ran among their examiners—assembled SS men—flexing their arms muscles and shouting they were strong enough to perform any labor demanded of them. Their pleas to live were almost invariably rejected.

Sometimes they were spared, only to be forced to kill their own parents in a manner designed to "amuse" the SS—such as holding the head of a bound and gagged father in a water trough until he drowned, or pulling the trigger of a gun against a mother's forehead.

Congressman Expresses His Appreciation for Opportunity

BY GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressman has a right arm started more muscular than his left from swinging an ax a long time ago in something called the Civilian Conservation Corps, also known as the CCC.

The initials may be unfamiliar now, but the CCC loomed very large in the depression years in the 1930s. It was one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's weapons against joblessness, set up especially for unemployed youths.

Rep. Edward R. Roybal, D-Calif., remembers well. In 1934 he was just out of high school, building and clearing fire ovens of eight children of a Mexican-American family, living in a tough Los Angeles neighborhood. There were no jobs. There was no money.

Roybal joined the Civilian Conservation Corps. CCC Veteran

"The days I spent in the C's and sent $25 home to their parents were the happiest days of my life," he said recently. "Had it not been for the CCC, I would not have gone on to an institution of higher learning."

President Johnson's war on poverty program includes a job that the 44-year-old congressman said is patterned largely on Roosevelt's old CCC.

Asked what "the C's," as he calls it, had done for him, Roybal said that in Los Angeles, "as a member of a minority I saw an opportunity to start at the great deal of discrimination corps level and advance him."

There was a lack of jobs and self-education. Going to the C's, Roybal's own verdict: "I'm made me realize there was a very proud that I was a member. There was an opening 'ber of the C's. It was the most 'Once a guy gets started,' he terrific thing that ever happened, 'then he has a thirst that pened to me."

112 Nations Have Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department reports that 112 countries have social security programs—a rise of nine since 1961.

In addition, the department's Social Security Administration said, many older countries have revised or added to their social security programs during that period.

The information is contained in a new edition of the department's "Social Security Programs Throughout the World."

Seventy-eight countries now have social security laws providing protection against types of risks covered by the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program of the United States, the report shows.

Seven countries have universal pension systems for all residents above a specified age without regard to past contributions or employment. Four Scandinavian countries—Denmark, Iceland, Norway and Sweden—provide disability and survivors pensions, too.

Accreditation of Blood Center in Appleton Okayed

Renewal accreditation of the Community Blood Center, Inc. by the American Association of Blood Banks for another three-year period was announced this week by Dr. Rosser L. Mainwaring, association president.

Accreditation was preceded by a comprehensive questionnaire and physical inspection of the blood bank by one of the association's volunteer specialists. Purpose of the voluntary inspection and accreditation program is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service.

The review also assists the blood bank director in determining whether procedures used in his institution meet established standards, and provides consultation service, thus assuring patients of increased safety of human blood transfusions.

Ralph Schlicht Wins Medal in Amateur Meet

Madison Golfer Repeats Performance Of 1963 Tournament

MADISON (AP)—Long-driving and sharp-putting Ralph "Butch" Schlicht of Madison has taken his second straight medal in the Wisconsin Amateur Golf Tournament and was the man to catch in match play beginning today.

The 21-year-old Schlicht, a University of Wisconsin student and son of professional Kully Schlicht of Madison Blackhawk, posted the only sub-par total as the 36 holes of qualifying play ended Tuesday.

Schlicht bowed in the finals last year to Milwaukeean Archie Dadian, who vacated his title when he turned pro.

The Madison youngster, who is studying to be a landscape architect, led the 64 qualifiers with a 3-under-par 141. He unhooked a 1-under 71 at Maple Bluff Tuesday after going 2-under for 70 in Monday's 18 holes at Blackhawk, his home course and the setting for match play.

Schlicht had eight one-putts as he posted nines of 36 and 35. He had four birdies and 11 pars, with his best shot a 6-foot blast from a sand trap into the cup for a par four on the 415-yard sixth hole.

His score would have been lower except for one shot out of bounds and two four-foot putts that failed to drop.

Two rounds of 18 holes were scheduled for today and Thursday with Friday's semifinals and Saturday's championship round set for 36 holes each.

Simonson Hits 66
The best round of the tournament so far was posted Tuesday by Madison's Harry Simonson, 49. The three-time runner-up in the amateur strung together nine straight pars and then produced three birdies on the back nine for a 66 to go with a 79 Monday. His Tuesday effort was enough to get him into match play with a 148.

Five former champions made another try, and four of them moved into match play. They are Bob Johnson, 80-76-156; Dick Sucher, Milwaukee, 72-73-145; Steve Carvello, Madison, 70-76-146; and ally Atwood, Madison, 73-73-146.

Billy Schaller of Milwaukee, the 1947 champion, failed to qualify, getting 79-81-160.

Runnerup to Schlicht in the race for the qualifying medal was Sucher with his 145. Atwood, Caravello, Bob Unger of Milwaukee, Ed Karpowicz of Madison, Jay Lohmiller of Madison and Randy Robel of Hartford were bunched at 146.

Schlicht's opponent in today's first round was Dick McKichan of Platteville, who qualified with a 75-78-153.

John David Crow Reinjures Knee in Cards' Practice

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP)—John David Crow, the injury-prone halfback of the St. Louis Cardinals, reinjured his right knee Tuesday during football practice.

The extent of the injury was not immediately determined.

"We probably won't be able to tell for 48 hours," trainer Jack Rockwell said. "There's very little swelling so far. Crow claims he has little pain, but you never can tell."

Crow hurt the leg when he tried to cut while running downfield. He caught his cleats in the turf and fell.

Crow, who broke the Cardinals' record for most yards gained in a season with 1,071 in 1960, was sidelined by a broken leg most of the 1961 season and by a knee injury most of last season.

The lanky ex-American Leaguer baffled the Giants for 1-13 innings Tuesday night before leaving for Jack Baldschun who fed a double play ball to Willie McCovey to wrap up a 4-0 Phillie victory in the opener of a crucial three-game series.

It was only Bunning's third victory in the five weeks since he set down 27 New York Mets in a row. Two of these victories have come against the Giants and Phillie Manager Gene Mauch couldn't have hoped for a healthier hex.

The Giants couldn't do a thing with Bunning for 5-13 innings and visions of another no-hitter (only three pitchers have ever put two classics together in one summer) had Phillie fans excited. But Hal Lanier's single broke the spell in the sixth.

Braves Rally for 3-2 Victory in Rain-Halted Game With Cincinnati

Menke's Single Accounts for Winning Runs

BY DAVE O'HARA
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin's unpredictable, oft-criticized weather received a vote of thanks from the Milwaukee Braves Tuesday night.

Held to one hit, a solo homer by Mike de la Hoz, for six innings, the Braves sat out a 45-minute delay caused by rain and then erupted for two runs in the seventh to edge the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 before a crowd of 14,000 at County Stadium.

Except for de la Hoz's homer, Milwaukee starter Hank Fischer didn't mind the long delay, but O'Toole's arm stiffened and he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the top of the seventh.

Right-hander Sammy Ellis took over in the last of the seventh and the Braves found the range, pushing across the decisive runs before Bob Purkey was summoned from the Cincinnati bullpen to end the inning.

Launched Uprising
Joe Torre launched the uprising by beating out a bouncer to third base. De la Hoz was called out on strikes, but Ed Bailey, right to load the bases. Pitcher Ty Cline struck out. Den-

Menke then ran the count to John Gordy and defensive ends 3-and-2 and lined a single to left. Darris McCord and Sam Will-put the Braves in front to liams.

Dave May, Bob Matias Get Key Hits

CLINTON—Bob Matias and Dave May sparked Fox Cities in a four-run eighth-inning rally Tuesday night that swept the Foxes to a 4-2 victory over Clinton.

The two clubs will complete the three-game set tonight, with Ed Hawkins scheduled to hurl for the Foxes.

The Foxes were blanked by C-Sox starter Norb Rogers for the first seven innings and trailed, 3-0, entering the eighth.

Bob Matias, however, led off the eighth with a punch home run for starting pitcher Ed Petryshyn. He was followed by consecutive singles by Bob Lewandowski and John Matias. May then doubled both runners home.

May added the insurance run when Pete Rose opened with a single and, with two out, Frank Rico's fly out and scored on re-

The C-Sox scored in the second inning on three singles. Al Lopez drove in the run. Pat Ruby walked with two out in the third and scored the other run on Rich Severson's double to right.

Petryshyn fanned four batters and walked three in picking up his sixth win of the season. "I'm getting the ball where I want," Fischer said. "It's a lot easier when you get ahead of the hitters. Then you can set them up. When you get behind, you have to come in with a good pitch, maybe a fast ball, and you're in trouble. That's the reason for my success late."

Phillies' Gus Triandos Elated After 3-Run Homer Beats San Francisco

BY RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jim Bunning and his caddy did it again for the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night.

Bunning, with the help of one pitch by reliever Jack Baldschun in the ninth, blanked San Francisco 4-0, boosting the Phils 1 1/2 games ahead of the second place Giants.

But the guy who also came along in last winter's deal that brought Bunning to the Phillies: outfielder Don Demeter and pitcher Jack Hamilton, finally shared a little of the glory.

Big Gus Triandos walloped a three-run homer in the fourth inning off lefty Billy O'Dell, highlighting a four-run rally. It was Triandos' first home run since April 26, and his second of the season.

Standing in the Phils' clubhouse, Triandos enjoyed every minute of the attention showered on him by inquiring newsmen.

Long Time Between "Boy, it's been a long time between homers," said the broad smiling catcher. "Even in batting practice."

Triandos said he hit an inside fast ball that nestled in the seats just inside the left field foul pole.

The Pirates, who reached a club high of 1,705,828 only four years ago, dipped to 783,648 in home attendance last season. This year, they are last in the National League with 424,797—about 63,000 behind their low 1963 pace.

feats were at the hands of southpaws. And Mauch has been counting on Triandos, a right-hand hitter with power, to start doing something about the problem.

When the Phillies went to trading market last winter they were looking for a right-hand hitting catcher to back up lefty swinging Clay Dalrymple. They felt they got him in the Bunning-Triandos deal. But Gus has not produced. He had one homer and six doubles among his 23 hits until Tuesday night.

As for Bunning, the perfect game hero, he scored his 10th victory—his first since beating the Giants in San Francisco July 4—despite a blister on the middle finger of his pitching hand that broke in the seventh inning. He held the Giants without a hit until Hal Lanier broke the spell in the sixth with one out, lashing a single to left.

Pinch hitter Matty Alou got the second hit, a bunt single in the eighth. When Bunning was nicked for a pair of singles in the ninth, Mauch called on

Pirate Attendance Dips; Giants, Cards Also Trail

Braves Show 44 Per Cent Gate Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—They've been talking about dwindling baseball attendance in Milwaukee and Cleveland.

But what about Pittsburgh, a fourth-place team relatively few Pirates' fans are turning out to watch?

The Pirates, who reached a club high of 1,705,828 only four years ago, dipped to 783,648 in home attendance last season. This year, they are last in the National League with 424,797—about 63,000 behind their low 1963 pace.

Only two other NL clubs are trailing last year's gates. St. Louis shows a decrease of 65,269 and San Francisco 50,424. The Giants, however, and the Los Angeles Dodgers are the only big league teams past the one million mark. The Dodgers, leading both circuits with 1,562,313, are 48,852 ahead of last season. San Francisco has drawn 1,102,732.

The circuit shows an over-all increase of 716,050, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed Wednesday.

Braves Ahead The Braves, rumored to be heading from Milwaukee to Atlanta next year, actually are 44 per cent ahead of 1963. They have attracted 617,599 to County Stadium compared to 428,967 in as many 1963 home dates.

The New York Mets have played before 950,042 in new Shea Stadium, a gain of 367,760 over 1963 when the Polo Grounds was their home.

Other NL teams with attendance gains are the Philadelphia Phillies 208,673, Houston Colts 59,849, Chicago Cubs 13,663 and Cincinnati Reds 6,783.

Cleveland is one of only four American League teams in front of last season's figures. The Indians' total is only 429,649, representing an increase of 17,246.

The Baltimore Orioles, surprise pennant-contenders, have the largest AL increase—131,668. Washington is up 51,264 and the Detroit Tigers 36,545.

The New York Yankees, AL leaders in the pennant race and attendance, have played to 786,130 at home. However, they trail their 1963 pace by 76,110.

The Los Angeles Angels, 148,778; Boston Red Sox, 124,859; Chicago White Sox, 69,291 and Kansas City A's, 40,779, are the other teams trailing last year's attendance gates. The figures include Monday's games more.

Thant Tries To Get Soviets To Pay Debt

MOSCOW (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant met Soviet Premier Khrushchev in the Kremlin today for talks on the Soviet Union's overdue debts for its share of U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Thant handed the premier a richly engraved Burmese silver bowl which Khrushchev admiringly said was "beautiful and should be exhibited in a museum."

Thant met earlier with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, who in talks Tuesday with British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler reportedly reiterated the Soviet Union's stand that it did not consider itself bound by the peacekeeping assessments for the U.N. Congo and Middle East forces because those forces were not under the control of the Security Council.

Under the U.N. Charter, the Soviet Union could lose its General Assembly vote this fall if it does not pay part of the debt. Soviet spokesmen have contended that this would wreck the world organization.

LaFollette Questions Appointment of Weber

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS a-plate dinner for Sen. William Bronson La Follette, candidate for Democratic attorney general nomination, said Tuesday night there was no statutory authority for the appointment of David Weber to a post in the attorney general's office. La Follette told a Waukesha County Democratic unit meeting at Muskego that Weber was a personal aide to Republican Atty. Gen. George Thompson, and added:

"It is difficult to determine just what Mr. Weber's status is supposed to be, but no matter what title the attorney general attempts to bestow upon him it cannot legitimize his appointment."

Letter Displayed At Madison, Thompson displayed a letter which he said answered a Democratic claim that a series of taped broadcasts warning consumers of fraudulent selling methods constituted political announcements rather than public service.

Thompson, who seeks re-election, said some stations using recordings had been told they will be asked to provide equal time to Democratic candidates. The letter shown by Thompson was from Wally Perry, president of a Milwaukee advertising agency. The letter said:

"The taped announcements concerning consumer fraud which you received from us were donated by us and three Milwaukee radio stations to the Milwaukee Council of the Citizens' Advisory Council on Consumer Fraud."

Neither the Republican party nor any other partisan group was in any way connected with the production and distribution of these announcements."

over Albertville June 18. The primitive tribesmen quickly ran them into a useless state.

About 120 Europeans, most of them Belgians, are still in Albertville. They maintain the water and power services and operate a textile plant.

It is almost impossible for them to get permits to leave, but Soumialot denies the whites are hostages. However, he has threatened harsh measures against Europeans whose governments aid Congolese President Moise Tshombe's forces.

Bands of rebels leave by train and cattle truck each day for the front, singing songs praising the late Patrice Lumumba, former Congo premier and patron saint of all the Congo's rebels.

They go off to war with spears, knives and clubs, confident that witchcraft medicine protects them from the bullets of the Congolese army.

Outagamie County Republicans and sympathizers are going to roast corn (and Democrats!) Aug. 13.

It's the date for the annual GOP corn roast at Kimberly's Sunset Park on County Trunk Z. Roasting starts at 5:30 p.m.

City Clerk Elden Broehm, again the general chairman for the gathering of the fun and corn-loving political faithful, indicated today it will be a real swinging affair.

Gathering of the Clan Last year's corn-consuming gathering was a whopping success, providing the partisans with an opportunity to let off steam in the outdoor political arena.

Republicans and the general public have been invited to the "schlacht" which promises to be one of the biggest gatherings of the GOP clan this year.

In addition to fresh sweet corn topping the menu, there will be refreshments, brats and Wisconsin cheese in abundance.

It's recalled that at last year's roast, a ton of home-grown sweet corn was consumed by party members and guests. And, an estimated six barrels of refreshments were tapped.

Broehm announced the appointment of committee chairmen and was optimistic that the weatherman would cooperate to the fullest extent.

John Ayers, Appleton, is in charge of tickets which can be obtained for a $1 "donation," and Arthur Lauer, Kaukauna, will head the crew preparing the chow.

Entertainment is being lined up by Don Peeters of Little Chute.

Republicans to be on hand for the event will read like a Who's Who. Invited are all GOP candidates seeking county posts and others who have entered races for state offices.

Broehm says there will be more information forthcoming on the program.

In the meantime, he urged Republicans and others to work up an appetite for roast corn... and politics, of course.

Show Business Should Be 'Dough Business'

Talent Important but Money—Lots of It—Needed for New Routines or Plays

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—When you proved equally thrifty in learning to play the instrument. A friend was paying 75 cents for piano lessons. Claire paid the girl 25 cents a lesson to pass the information on to her. It costs about as much money now to develop a new night club act as it does to buy a three-bedroom house in the suburbs. It costs as much as it did to put on a Broadway drama only a generation ago.

For example, let us take the case of Claire and Merna Barry, currently on the nation's supper club circuit.

The two singing sisters earn a four-figure salary for a single night's engagement. But they estimate they will spend upward of $25,000 to prepare a new routine for an opening here Aug. 17.

Where does the money go? "Well, we have to have special material, since we're planning to use 11 new songs," said Claire. "We also need a vocal arranger, orchestral arranger, copyist, lyricist, choreographer, wardrobe designer, and extra musicians."

"Then there's the wardrobe," added Merna. "Gowns can run up to $750 apiece, or even $1,500 with accessories."

Other incidental expenses, such as management and publicity, hike the total cost.

All Worth It
But if it is expensive to stay in the big time, both girls feel it is worthwhile. Their climb to success was a steady struggle.

The girls have been singing professionally since Claire was 8 and Merna 6. Money was scarce in their early days.

They lived in a small apartment in the Bronx and the family couldn't afford to buy a piano. Eventually, the family moved away and children know nothing of this, left a piano in the apartment because it cost too much to move.

Actors Shouldn't Play Role That's Too Young
NEW YORK (AP) — Dennis O'Keefe delightedly reports that he's a burly 207 pounds these days. A short time ago he weighed 180. It's his way of maturing gracefully.

"As an actor gets into middle age," says O'Keefe, "one of the hardest and saddest things is to see a man play a role that's too young. It's embarrassing for the audience and should be for performers. There's only one Cary Grant."

"The others do it either through idiotic vanity or for money."

This explains why O'Keefe, at age 51, is enthusiastically portraying the 60-plus hero of "Never Too Late." Broadway's long-run comedy about belated parenthood.

"By playing an older man, you can age easily and it's more fun," he says.

U. S. Economic Outlook Good for Balance of Year

Advance Orders for Steel Good

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for the economy and the steel industry appears good for the balance of the year, says Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corp.

He made the observation at a news conference Tuesday after U. S. Steel reported earnings for the three months ended June 30.

The company, largest steel-maker in the country, earned $60,066,000, or $1 a share, in the second quarter. This compared with $72,314,183 or $1.23 a share, in the 1963 second quarter and $51,546,000, or 84 cents a share, in the first quarter of this year.

In the first half, U. S. Steel's profits totaled $112,242,000, or $1.04 a share, against $103,132,954 or $1.67 a share in the 1963 first half.

Directors declared a regular dividend of 50 cents a share payable Sept. 10 to stockholders of record Aug. 7.

In the second half of 1963 steel users were buying heavily as a hedge against a possible strike. There was no parallel situation in the second quarter of this year.

Republic Steel, No. 3 in the industry, reported earlier that its earnings fell to $17,763,078, or $1.13 a share, in the second quarter from $21,993,374, or $1.46 a share, in the like 1963 period.

Second ranking Bethlehem Steel will report Thursday.

Economy Balanced
Blough said the economy seems to be "on an even keel" and "one could be modestly optimistic about the rest of the year."

"The order picture in the steel industry for this time of year is especially good," he said. "The first days of July brought orders as good as any we have seen."

"We think the present trend in capital spending by industry is much better," Blough said. "We have had a major resurgence in private building. When you have a resurgence in capital goods, you can expect steel to gain."

School Plans Memorial for Galimore

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Florida A&M University, George W. Gore, said Tuesday that the university will establish a memorial in honor of Willie Galimore, its alumnus who died in an auto accident Sunday.

Galimore starred at Florida A&M before playing professional football with the Chicago Bears.

Gore, attending a meeting here, said Galimore was "more than an outstanding athlete. He was a student, a gentleman, and a credit to the university."

"I am sure that in the immediate future the university will want to establish some type of memorial in his honor."

Gore said he would confer with other school officials on the kind of memorial to be established.

TV Debate With Johnson Sought By Goldwater

Senator Meeting With Chieftains Of House, Senate

BY WALTER MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater — who says he wants to face President Johnson in televised campaign debates — carries his party unity drive today to GOP chieftains of the House and Senate.

Goldwater and his vice presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, had conferences with the Republican congressional leadership conference on politics, legislation and plans for the campaign ahead. Dean Burch, the new Republican national chairman, also was on hand.

Hopes for TV Debate
The Arizona senator told more than 70 House Republicans Tuesday he wants to debate Johnson during their campaign battle for the White House.

Rep. Jack Westland of Washington relayed word of the senator's declaration at a closed-door session that lasted for more than an hour. Goldwater confirmed it.

Westland reported Goldwater said he was ready and willing to confront Johnson before a nationwide television audience "and was anxious to do so."

To pave the way for debates, Westland said Goldwater wants action on legislation that would suspend equal broadcast time requirements during the presidential race. A similar measure opened the way for the 1960 debates between the late President John F. Kennedy and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Johnson Noncommittal
Westland said the bill now is stalled between the House and Senate, which have passed different versions.

Johnson has not yet tipped his hand on the question of campaign debates, saying only that he will cross that bridge when he comes to it.

During his campaign for the nomination, Goldwater said he would understand if Johnson refused to debate him.

"I'm fearful that a president, in the heat of debate, might disclose something that shouldn't be disclosed," he said in Nogales, Ariz., last Feb. 15. "And I would excuse a president who refused to debate."

Major Role
Westland said Goldwater told the congressmen television would play a major role in his campaign.

The congressmen said the nominee declared he does not plan an attempt to blanket the nation with a whistle stop style campaign.

"He told us he didn't want to have breakfast in New York, lunch in Chicago and dinner in Seattle," Westland said. "That sort of thing kills a candidate."

Rep. Earl Wilson of Indiana said Goldwater changed his mind since he declared in a June 30 interview that no Republican as of that time, could beat President Johnson.

"The picture is completely different now," Wilson said. He is very, very much encouraged as to the reaction of the public and as to harmony in the party.

Westland and Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona called the meeting primarily for congressmen who supported Goldwater's bid for the nomination. Some who did not actively support the senator in the primary campaign also were on hand.

Louisiana Marriage Licenses Now $5

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The cost of getting married in Louisiana rose $1.50 at noon today.

A bill signed into law by Gov. John J. McKeithen Tuesday boosted the cost of a marriage license from $3.50 to $5. The increase was necessary because of the cost of handling paper work.

Four Negroes On Georgia Delegation

Governor Says Group Is Loyal Workers of Party

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's delegation to the Democratic National Convention — including Negroes — is made up of loyal Democrats who represent our party," says Gov. Carl Sanders.

The names of the 64 delegates and 52 of 53 alternates were announced Tuesday by Sanders and Travis Stewart, executive director of the Georgia Democratic party. Four Negroes — two delegates and two alternates — were included on the list of those who will go to the convention opening Aug. 24 in Atlantic City.

There was only one Negro — an alternate — among the Georgia delegation to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

Sanders, asked the significance of including Negroes among the Democratic delegation, replied:

Political Organization
"This is not a social club. This is a political organization and it is right and proper that we have a cross section of the voters of the state represented. This delegation is made up of loyal Democrats who represent our party."

Missing from the list — at their request — are U. S. Sens. Richard B. Russell and Herman Talmadge. Both said they had previous commitments, but Talmadge stated flatly that he is still a Democrat.

Several other high state officials who normally would be expected to attend also begged off. Most pleaded previous commitments, too. They are Lt. Gov. Peter Zack Geer, Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell, Treasurer Jack B. Ray and Comptroller General James L. Bentley Jr.

Requests Inclusion
Former Gov. Ernest Vandiver specifically requested that he be included although he is unable to attend the convention due to a previous commitment.

He is listed as an alternate. The Negro delegates are State Sen. Leroy Johnson and attorney A. T. Walden both of Atlanta. Johnson is the first Negro to win election to the legislature in half a century. Walden is a political power in Atlanta who worked for the Democratic party in the 1960 presidential election.

The alternates are T. B. Hooper of Macon and Mrs. P. Q. Vancy of Atlanta.

Democrats from Fulton and DeKalb counties compose more than one third of the delegation. The two counties make up much of Greater Atlanta's population of more than a million.

The Georgia delegation will vote under the unit rule and its 53 convention ballots will be cast for President Johnson.

Nine Found Alive

Efforts Continue to Free Trapped Miners

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP) — Rescue workers punched an entrance today into an underground tunnel where five miners are believed trapped by a cave-in. Other men worked to open a rescue shaft to nine trapped men found alive more than 200 feet below the surface.

The rescuers made contact through an air tube with the nine men Tuesday night, 36 hours after the cave-in in a limestone mine in the Jura Mountains of eastern France. The miners said three of their five missing companions were caught by falling rock and may have perished. They said there was no trace of the other two.

Torrential rains hampered the rescue work Tuesday but the sky was blue today. The limestone quarry lies beneath Mt. Rivel near the Swiss border.

Hole Opened
The hole was opened by bulldozers this morning to permit rescue teams to enter the entrance tunnel where the cave-in occurred Monday and clear away debris by hand. It was believed that the five missing men were in this gallery.

Other rescue teams were digging a 3-foot vertical shaft through the 21-foot layer of rock above the chamber where the nine known survivors were. Drillers sank a small pipe into the underground gallery Tuesday night and exchanged signals with the miners. Then they lowered a microphone to the men by pushing through a larger pipe.

Down went food, warm clothing, hot drinks, flashlights and cigarettes. Wives and daughters spoke to the trapped men.

Exchanged Information
Albin Parrad, the mine's senior foreman, exchanged information with shift foreman Andre Martinet at the bottom. Parrad said one of the missing men, a truck driver had been caught in the middle of the crush and was trapped under tons of rock. "I don't think he will ever be found," Parrad said.

Martinet said his group was cut off from the missing men by debris. He said two of the men John F. Kennedy has agreed to were engaged in ceiling work only five yards away when the roof caved in and he had found no trace of them.

Among the trapped survivors the real estate firm that manages Andre and Michel Jacques, sons of a farmer, night the apartment was sold whose house was shaken apart for about $200,000. He said when a section of the mine colliery-maintenance charges are about $14,000 a year.

Prowler Subdued With No. 2 Iron

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Golfer Leon Washington didn't care whether he hooked or sliced with his No. 2 iron Tuesday.

He did both in using the club to subdue a prowler he caught in his dry cleaning establishment.

The victim of what might be called a penalty shot was hauled off by police for treatment of head and back injuries. He gave his name as James Milton, 28, a worker for the Democratic party in the 1960 presidential election.

While the escorting officer's attention was distracted, Milton took off through a hospital door. He's still out-of-bounds.

Customs Agents Seize 20,000 Baby Chickens

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — U. S. customs agents got into the chicken business Tuesday when they seized 20,000 baby chicks which were being exported illegally from the United States to Mexico.

The agents also confiscated a 1960 two-ton truck. Monty R. Blackwell, customs agent, estimated the chicks were worth $4,000 and said they may be sold at public auction.

Written After Nomination

German Paper Prints Article by Goldwater

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A West German weekly which has spoken favorably of Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy published today an article under his signature. It opposed the proposed multinational nuclear force and said a nuclear-armed North Atlantic Treaty Organization could "oppose local invasions on the spot with tactical nuclear weapons."

The paper, Deutsche National Zeitung, gave no indication when the article was written or whether it had been published previously.

Chief editor Gerhard Frey, office said the article was written after Goldwater's nomination, expressly for the paper. The article says:

Nuclear Forces
"If we continue to withdraw our nuclear forces from Europe instead of strengthening them and bringing them under joint command, we shall one day be faced with a 'local invasion' by the Communists which will leave us no other choice than intercontinental retaliation or surrender to the Communist threat. A nuclear-armed North Atlantic Treaty Organization could oppose local invasions on the spot with tactical nuclear weapons."

Deutsche National Zeitung normally devotes much of its space to the defense of Germans accused of war crimes or nazism. In today's issue, all three articles on the front page are about American affairs.

The Goldwater article appears under the heading "We have a duty to Europe," by Senator Barry Goldwater.

It begins "The United States has a duty to the free world and

Mrs. Kennedy Buying Fifth Ave. Apartment

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has agreed to buy a 15-room apartment on Fifth Avenue overlooking Central Park.

Douglas L. Elliman, head of the real estate firm that manages Andre and Michel Jacques, sons of a farmer, night the apartment was sold whose house was shaken apart for about $200,000. He said when a section of the mine colliery-maintenance charges are about $14,000 a year.

problem, and to develop these forces including suitable atomic weapons," the article says.

The multinational nuclear force is endorsed by the American and West German governments. The United States wants such a force to be a surface fleet, armed with Polaris missiles and manned jointly by members of the Atlantic alliance, with nuclear warheads under the control of the American members of each crew.

It is not a solution, the article says.

"What is more," it added, "it is an insult to the intelligence of our allies. Any reasonable person with the slightest measure of military experience can see the obstacles that such a mixed crew would bring with it to a warship or any other unit. It is hardly possible for a 'multinational' captain to command a warship."

Two Safety Plays in a Single Hand

One of the most difficult hands in the recent Intercollegiate Championships required declarer to make two safety plays. One was standard, but the other took a bit of thought.

Declarer wins the opening club lead in dummy and must win five tricks in each red suit to assure the slam. He begins by leading the ace of hearts from dummy.

The theory of this standard safety play is that there is no problem unless one opponent has all four hearts. There is no way to stop West from getting a heart trick if he has all four hearts, but there is a way to stop East.

When the bad break shows up, South is ready to play hearts.

twice through East. He leads a low heart from dummy. East puts up the ten, and South wins with the queen. South must get back to dummy for a further heart finesse.

Must Play Diamonds

First, however, South must play the diamonds. South can guard against four diamonds on either side, but must decide which side.

West, who was void of hearts, cannot also be void of diamonds since he tamely passed South should guard against four diamonds in the West hand.

South begins the diamonds by leading the king. He continues with the seven, and West plays the nine to force out dummy's queen. Declarer gets back to his hand by leading a heart for a second finesse through East.

Now South leads the eight of diamonds through West. If West plays low, his best defense, South lets the eight ride for a finesse. Then a diamond to the ace clears the suit.

Declarer gets back with a heart to lead his last diamond, discarding a spade from dummy. A club puts dummy in to cash the last heart, and twelve tricks are in the bank.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S K 8; H K Q 9 4; D K 10 8 7 5; C Q 3. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. This is a borderline opening bid with three flaws. For one thing it is aceless, and good players avoid opening a doubtful aceless hand. For another, doubleton queen of clubs is not worth its full count of 2 points. Third, the 4-card hearts and 5-card diamonds are awkward suits to bid. It is very close, and most players would open the hand, but most experts would pass.

Wants to Marry Rich Beauty; Ann Suggest Girl With Brains

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 20-year-old man, good-looking, well-built, well-read and well-traveled. I have devoted so much time to cultural interests, music, art, and literature that I neglected the business aspect of my life. As a result I have very little money.

I would like to meet a fine woman and get married but this poses a real problem. I cannot stand homely women and I can't afford to marry a poor one. I have met dozens of women with money but I just can't look at them for more than 10 minutes without feeling it would not be worth it.

The beautiful women I've known are all searching for someone who can set them up in style which, of course, I cannot. I am serious about this, Ann. I am not a crackpot. I have many fine qualities and could make a woman very happy. I need some outside help. Do you happen to know of anybody I will be happy to send a picture to?

Dear QTX: I have a picture. Please don't send one. Why don't you forget about both money and beauty and try to find a girl with brains? There should be at least one working set in each family and I see no evidence that you have any.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a man who has a job as bookkeeper in a credit union and goes around telling everybody (after three martinis) who owes what?

This is the situation in our organization and it is more than I can stand. I am a member of the credit union but I do not owe them anything. Several of my friends do, however, and I am furious on their account. It is embarrassing for one friend in particular to have it known that he is in debt up to the legal limit.

Should I tip off the chief executive who would have the man removed at once? Frankly, I don't test him but I don't want to be responsible for a family man losing his job. Your advice is wanted.—Bix

Dear Bix: If "Landman" has been talking through his martinis for several months, his days are numbered. Keep quiet and let one of the injured parties give him the axe.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 13-year-old girl who has a problem spelled M-o-t-h-e-r. I love her but she is driving me nuts. Ever since I was a small child my mother had to help me do everything, whether it was homework, sewing on a button, selecting books from the library, or choosing the right dress to wear to a party. Just now mother asked me to look up a number in the phone book. I looked it up and she said, "That doesn't sound correct." She then went and looked up the number herself. I feel as if I can't do anything right. I get boiling mad when she stands right behind me when I dry glasses or silverware. Lots of times she dries things over after I have finished.

Please tell me what to do. It's a real problem.—Helped Too Much

Dear Helped Too Much: You hot it's a real problem and I hope your mother reads my answer and pays attention to it.

Of course, a mother can dry a glass better, or sew a hem straighter—she's had years of experience. Far more important than the shiny glass or the straight hem is the feeling of achievement that comes from doing something on one's own.

This world is filled with emotional cripples who can't make a decision or—having made a decision—are never sure it was the right one. They had mothers like yours.

Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," gives sound and solid rules for teen-age dating. To receive a copy, enclose with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Protect Eyes From Blinding Sun. An eclipse happens every so often and according to the experts, if you look directly at the sun at a certain hour during this time, it could have damaging effects on your eyes. But getting too much bright sun in your eyes at any time isn't too good. And the squinting never helps you look very pretty. So, have on hand a pair of sunglasses when the sun gets too sunny. There are many styles to choose from and you might want to try on different designs to fit your shape of face. The simple, uncluttered frames are the best for you. Leave the fancy rhinestone-trimmed ones for your older sister and mother.

But it never achieves that beautiful effect unless it is given good and proper care. Otherwise it develops dirty-yellow streaks and a lifeless cast. Actually the only causes of yellowing beyond one's control are an illness and various medications. Streaking is mainly the result of neglect, such as a careless choice of waving solution or the failure to protect the hair from the sun. If a gray head has gone uncovered in the July sun, it is sure to be streaky at this point. The lifeless look also comes from neglectful practices, mostly from insufficient brushing —Brush daily, separating every strand.

—Shampoo at least once weekly. If hair is dry, use conditioning aids. Some are tinted with blueing for its whitening effect. After shampooing apply silver or steel rinse of wash-out or semi-permanent variety. If it contains conditioners, so much the better.
—To control dryness or add sheen between shampoos, surface hair with pamade or creamy hairdressing.
Setting lotions and hair-sprays containing protein, both in condition and hold.

Let Example Act as Best Teacher of Responsibility

Do your children forget where they've left their toys or clothes? Do they break windows or destroy others' property? You can develop your child's sense of responsibility in two ways: by example and practice.

If you shut off the television set some evening and say "I promised to help with the hospital drive" you show your child by example you're willing to give some of your time to help other people.

Allow Independence
When you give children chances to work out problems by themselves, you give them practice in developing responsibility. You need to be patient and let your child do things at his pace. If you rush in and do for the child, you're taking away from him zeal for independence. You're not teaching him to be responsible.

When you tell a child "I'm going to let you do this the best way you can" let him do it. Don't worry or criticize if the job isn't done perfectly. You teach children faster when you make them feel good about being resourceful and making contributions to the family group.

Know Child's Ability
Don't give your child tasks that are too hard for him. If you expect children to do things beyond their ability or physical strength, you frustrate a child, and make him feel he's a failure.

Don't overlook the worth of children's projects. A child working with other children to build a community playhouse may learn more responsibility than when doing tedious jobs at home. Just getting along with other boys and giving and taking when decisions are made may be a very meaningful experience for the child. If a child is dreading through an experience and hating every moment, what is he learning?

Obligation to be Honest
Responsibility includes a moral obligation to be honest, to return extra change when a grocer makes a mistake, to admit damage done even when no one else sees the incident. A responsible person is steadily reliable.

A teenage girl given complete responsibility for her room in inclined to be messy. If you set a neat example and give her encouragement and praise when the room is tidy, she'll feel rewarded for doing a good job. Don't criticize and act on your first impulse exclaiming — "What a messy room! Why don't you clean it up!" She may develop negative feelings which may stay with her.

Most people, even children, will respond if they know others are expecting them to be responsible. As long as parents are home, children often will not turn a hand to help. Children in charge when parents are gone feel their responsibility and usually want to live up to what is expected of them.

Big Berets, Pillboxes For Fall

BY LOUISE HICKMAN
FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Italian designers doffed their hats today as fashion showings for fall and winter switched from Rome to Florence.

A millinery showing on the Pitti Palace runway, presented by La Familiare, Florence felt manufacturers, featured five of Italy's most creative hat designers.

Huge "Raphael" berets and tiny pillboxes are the outstanding shapes for fall, according to La Familiare. Furry beaver felts prevail.

Warm golden shades—beiges, browns, and apricot hues—are the millinery fashion colors for fall here. Black and white combinations and turquoise also are important.

Millions Lost In Women's Absenteeism

"You'd better not go near the boss, she's on one of her rampages again," says a girl Friday to a co-worker.

And that same woman executive, a few days later, might well be heard complaining that her normally efficient and cheerful secretary had just fled weeping from the office when she made the day's tenth typing error.

The odd thing is that neither boss nor secretary realize that their monthly bouts of irritability, sudden weeping jags and inability to cope with work or people are caused by a common, and treatable, medical syndrome — pre-menstrual tension, which doctors call PMT for short.

Not Alone
Equally odd is the fact that most women seem to think they are singularly afflicted.

Of course, they're wrong. Recent estimates indicate that about 50 million women suffer from some degree from PMT, one or more of a group of symptoms, ranging from simple headache and fatigue to exhaustion, nausea, bloating, irritability, inability to concentrate, poor coordination, and perhaps severe anxiety or depression.

PMT is a problem not only to the woman who suffers its symptoms, but to the people around her. It is a cause of marital strain and parent-child dissension. It certainly has a profound effect on the work capacity and relationships of the woman in business.

Days Lost
PMT is blamed for a dramatic absenteeism rate among working women. Time lost because of it is estimated at between 7 and 9 million women days each year, with a wage loss to women workers of many millions of dollars, to say nothing of the losses in efficiency, upset routines and lowered production.

The female executive is faced with a particular problem. She must function as smoothly as her male colleagues, maintain her home responsibilities and cope with admittedly more sensitive staff relationships, particularly if she is in a responsible position.

Now, she can at least take comfort in recent scientific studies which show that a woman just can't be more like a man. In the past few years scientists have learned that the woman's cycle of tremendous hormonal changes and variations. It manifests itself 10 days to two weeks before the menstrual period begins, hence the obvious name — Pre-Menstrual Tension. The body retains too much salt and therefore absorbs too much water — causing the uncomfortable bloating and swelling. Anxiety and tension build up. The intensity of the reaction is dependent, of course, upon the woman's own make-up.

Many aspects of the problem are still under study, but physicians now recognize PMT as a distinct medical entity and have pinpointed treatment successfully in three directions: first to correct the hormone imbalance; second to decrease the swelling and bloating; and third, to lessen the psychological strain.

Medication Available
Doctors in the past have prescribed individual medications for these three specific symptoms. Now a new prescription preparation tackles the whole problem with the combination of a hormone, a diuretic (to counteract the swelling) and a mild tranquilizer.

Today, some three million American women are being treated for pre-menstrual tension. The estimated 47 million other PMT sufferers could ease their own discomfort and that of their colleagues and families if they gave up the idea that PMT is simply "woman's lot." Help is available if they will take the trouble to consult their physicians for treatment.

Questions On Sewing

Q. I love the effect of a scalloped edge at necklines, but when I try to face them they always turn out sloppy and uneven. Can you help?

Mrs. M. W. A. Trace the scallops on the wrong side of the facing. Place the facing and the garment right sides together and baste. Stitch around the scallops, taking one stitch across at the point of each scallop. Trim off seam allowances, trimming facing close to the stitching line, and garment ¼ inch wider than facing. Clip and notch the seam edges at close intervals as shown in figure 1. Turn to the right side and press as in figure 2. Then hem facing to garment but be sure

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS
QUESTIONS JOINT ACCOUNT
Dear Louise, I gave my fiancée her ring two months ago and we are to be married in December. Ever since the beginning, she has been suggesting that we establish a joint checking account now. I have been putting it off by telling her that I want to think it over. The idea surprises me and I wonder if there is an etiquette rule governing such a thing. I need your opinion or advice.

Louise Davis Answers:
Your problem doesn't involve etiquette. There is no rule about such a private matter. However, it does involve mature judgment. Even though you and your fiancée trust each other implicitly, I question the wisdom of a joint account during your engagement period. You are not yet husband and wife and it goes without saying that "There's many a slip between the cup and the lip." If your marriage doesn't take place, each of you would have an awkward and embarrassing time trying to resolve your finances and to decide who should claim any purchases made. You and your fiancée have the right to spend your own money as you wish before you are married and it seems to me that separate accounts will do until you marry.

Machine Tool Orders Upward Trend Forecast Good Future In Share Prices

Emphasize Trend Toward More
Mechanization of U. S. Industry

Recovery Tamed
Technical During Sluggish Trading

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The tools for expanding the machine age are going to pour forth in even greater volume in the months ahead. Both new orders and backlogs are piling up.

The soaring orders for machine tools mean a lot more than just prosperity for their makers.

They are beta that manufacturers are laying that good times will be around for many months to come.

They forecast increased spending for business expansion.

They emphasize the trend toward more mechanization.

They reveal how relaxed depreciation regulations and lower tax rates are being put to use.

More Money
They are based on the belief that consumers will have more money to spend for manufactured goods and sturdy confidence in their ability to meet any debt payments for borrowing to spend.

The National Machine Tool Building Association says new orders in June reached $160.9 million, the highest for any month in eight years and more than double the volume in June 1963.

Orders for the first half of 1964 are almost double those in the like period of 1963. And the backlog of unfilled orders has grown, lengthening delivery times. This is itself prods some manufacturers into ordering now, knowing they may have to wait to install the new machines they want for their modernization or expansion plans.

Machine tool making tends to be an up-and-down business. In bad times or when a business downturn is expected, orders fall off fast as manufacturers pull in their horns.

Today with the economy in general growing steadily the urge to buy tools to make the machines that turn out consumer products is mounting. This is the main drive behind the June spurt in tool orders.

Another is the continuing trend toward more mechanization to bypass costly man labor and make more goods with less effort faster and in greater quantity.

Buyers are finding funds for these tools from several sources. Profits for many companies are a record high or near it. They also can get a 7 per cent tax credit on new machinery purchases. And the corporate income tax rates have been cut and are to drop still more.

Whatever their motives, more money in the till better current sales expectations of still better business conditions to come—corporations have been steadily raising their sights this year on their expansion plans. The sums that are tagged to flow into new plants and equipment this year are now put at $44 billion by the Department of Commerce.

New Equipment
This call for some of it to go into new tools to equip the plants to update the old equipment. And so the tool makers are reaping a harvest.

Some think this may snowball. That is the big volume of new orders for tool machines may forecast still another raising of the estimates of business spending for expansion.

It takes quite awhile to make most of the tools now being ordered. That would mean their delivery would coincide with a much larger volume of spending for expansion in the months ahead, a greater sum than has yet been estimated. This would push the life of the present business upswing well into the future.

Britain Sets Three Conditions for New Meeting on Laos

MOSCOW (AP) — Britain told the Soviet Union today it is prepared to go along with the Kremlin call for a new 14-nation meeting in Laos provided that three conditions are met.

British official sources said the message was sent to the Soviet Foreign Ministry by order of Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler, now in Moscow for talks with Soviet leaders.

The conditions — which are in line with sentiment of the United States and Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma — are:

1. Establishment of a united government under Phouma, the neutralist who is opposed by the Communist Pathet Lao faction of his old coalition regime.

2. A cease-fire.

3. Withdrawal of rival Laotian troops to their positions of 1961.

February which would wipe out territorial gains by the Pathet Lao in an offensive launched in mid May.

The British sources said the proposal was put in the form of a draft agreement by the co-chairmen of the 1963 Geneva agreement on independence and are the co-chairmen.

Man Loses Fight Against Eviction

SUMMIT, Ill. (AP) — Wayne Hamilton's last ditch resistance to eviction under an order condemning his 80-year-old one-story frame house on the $157-million Southeast Expressway route ended Tuesday and the house was tumbled down.

Hamilton, 31, had threatened to defend the place with a 12-gauge shotgun. He sat in an overstuffed chair in his living room when sheriff's policemen got in by kicking out a front door panel.

The shotgun was lying unloaded across his knees when Chief Deputy Harry M. Magers told him, "I hate to do this. Will you cooperate?"

Hamilton replied he would not and Magers and two other deputies carried him outdoors. Hamilton's wife, Jeanette, 30, and their three daughters, aged 6 to 9 followed. A moment later, a bulldozer toppled the house, for naught and all.

Hamilton said he paid $16,500 for the place six years ago. The state awarded him $13,000. Hamilton said it was worth between $25,000 and $27,000.

Cool Air Starts to Spread Into Mid Section of Country

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cooler weather spread today into the middle Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes area behind a front which developed thundershowers in the Ohio Valley and southern Plains.

The eastern states except for extreme northern Maine continued to sweeter in near-80 weather, and Dixie was hot also. The northern Plains warned somewhat as the midsummer sun's effects returned. The Rockies and intermountain region were arenas of afternoon shower buildup.

Market Behavior

3 Stock Averages Set Records for 2 Weeks

NEW YORK (AP)—Emotion and weighing alternatives on the basis of perfect information, is a myth.

For two straight weeks all three of the Dow-Jones averages—30 industrials, 30 railroads, 15 utilities—have made new highs. This is the first time since 1923 that all three have set records in any one year.

When the industrials were climbing impressively, the rails were lagging. The utilities have gone their more unspectacular course, swinging either way far less than the others. Only this month have all three broken through their earlier highs so convincingly.

Economic Outlook
Is it the economic outlook? Is it political excitement and predictions? And who is making this market—the average stock holder or the pros?

The professionals get most of the credit, but what makes them tick? Many think that calculation is the clue to the stock market behavior today even more than ever.

The tradition is that insiders with all the tips and prior knowledge could calculate how this or that stock or the market in general will react to any foreseeable set of events.

More recently the notion has grown that the big investors—a comparatively few well-heeled individuals, but even more the pension funds and other institutions—do the cold reasoning and buy or sell more or less in unison.

Market Veterans
But veterans on Wall Street warn against this easy view of the market.

They point out that there are now estimated to be 17 million or more Americans holding stocks, each a potential buyer or seller. Most of them may belong to the oddlotters, the ones who trade in less than 100 shares at a time.

Pros tend to look down their noses at oddlotters as always wrong. Maybe they are, but they aren't without influence on stock price trends—such as the summer rally now intriguing the watchers of the stock market scene.

And pros are people, too. The institutional investors may seem impersonal, but individuals make the investing decisions. Right now is it emotion or calculation that determines?

Rational Judgement
One flatly stated view is that of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company, New York: "A view of the stock market as a vast exercise in rational judgement, dominated by professionals coolly clicking off computations

Mississippi Democrats Uninstructed

Electors Pledged To Goldwater May Be on Party Ballot

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Soft pedaling their opposition to President Johnson, Mississippi's all-white regular Democrats have named an uninstructed delegation to the national convention.

The move came at the request of Gov. Paul B. Johnson, titular head of the party in Mississippi, at Tuesday's state Democratic convention, which delayed naming presidential electors until a recess session is held Sept. 9 after next month's national convention.

Observers called the state convention action a victory for Gov. Johnson over former Gov. Ross Barnett's unpledged elector forces. The latter are opposed to opening the door to the possibility that President Johnson may get on the ballot in Mississippi under the Democratic label.

Action Criticized
The convention action was harshly criticized by leaders of the rival Freedom Democratic party, a nearly all-Negro group which will seek the ouster of the regular Mississippi Democrats at the national convention.

The convention "was probably one of the greatest examples of hypocritical political expediency in American history," said a statement by State Chairman Aaron Henry, a Clarkdale Negro druggist, and other leaders of the Freedom Democrats.

"By resolving that in September both pledged and unpledged electors will be placed on the ballot, the Mississippi party hopes to tempt the national party with at least the possibility of their supporting the national candidates in November. But this transparent ruse was used in 1960 and it is common knowledge that at that time the Mississippi party threw its whole weight behind the unpledged electors and denounced the national candidates."

State Party
Some of the regular Democrats had been expected to ask the state party to put up presidential electors pledged to Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, but the move did not materialize. Observers said they expected a battle at the Sept. 9 recess convention by Goldwater Democrats to capture the Democratic electors.

Gov. Johnson told the convention he stood ready to call a special session of the legislature and do what is necessary "to see that everyone in Mississippi has a choice and a right to choose."

The governor asked the delegates not to "indulge in emotional excesses which can only damage our cause. This is a time to use our heads instead of our vocal cords."

Special Session
He indicated to newsmen that he may call a special legislative session to repeal a 1963 law pushed through by Barnett so the state convention can put up both a slate of nominees for the party nominees and an unpledged slate, which would unofficially be pledged to Goldwater.

Barnett attended the convention but did not speak. Two Negroes sat in the spectators gallery of the huge State Coliseum where the convention was held. They said they had come as observers.

Meeting of Southern Governors Suggested

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Gov. John McKeithen says Southern governors should meet and decide a course of action before the Democratic National Convention.

McKeithen, in New Orleans for a meeting with city officials, said Tuesday that efforts to arrange such a conference are under way, although he had no connection with it.

He said Southerners may be insulted at the national convention, which gets under way Aug. 24 at Atlantic City, N.J.

PSC Hearing Set Aug. 12 On Crossings

A Public Service Commission hearing will be held here Aug. 12 on the City of Appleton's petition for relocating three railroad crossing signals in connection with municipal projects.

John F. Goetz, Madison, PSC acting secretary, announced today the hearing will be held at the Outagamie County Court house, starting at 9 a.m.

Relocation of signals at the Meade Street, Drew Street and Badger Avenue (U. S. 10) will be investigated by the commission.

The city plans to eliminate the jog in Meade Street at its intersection with E. Wisconsin Avenue.

And, because of the new No. 1 fire station being constructed at Atlantic and Drew streets, it will be necessary to relocate the Drew Street crossing signals.

Badger Avenue is being widened and the crossing at its junction with W. Wisconsin Avenue has to be moved.

In addition to city officials, representatives of the North Western railroad, Outagamie County Highway Department, Wisconsin Highway Commission and Wisconsin Railroad Assn. have received hearing notices.

Tax Relief Cited For Parents of College Pupils

Democratic Unit Told Views by Bayorgeon At Greenville Meet

GREENVILLE — Kaukauna Mayor Joseph F. "Doty" Bayorgeon, Democratic candidate in the Eighth Congressional District, reiterated his stand on tax help for parents sending children to college at the monthly meeting of the Outagamie County Young Democrats.

The Democratic candidate for the seat in the House of Representatives currently held by Republican John W. Byrnes appeared the so-called "10-year arrangement" to make the rangeland," Bayorgeon said stand one of the major planks of his 10-point program.

Bayorgeon said he favors a special tax relief for taxpayers sending their sons or daughters to college, universities or other educational institutions qualifying as full-time under existing laws.

Wants Special Credit

The candidate said the average parent should be given a special credit, both as inducement to continue the education of his children after high school and as a practical help in relieving such a financial burden.

"Such special tax treatment would enable the limited income taxpayer, who is undergoing sacrifices to send a child to college, to get some measure of tax relief which the wealthy taxpayer now able to enjoy un-

Negro Tries to Cut in on White Couple at Dance; Results in Riot

NEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A riot in the city has a substantial Negro youth's attempt to cut in on a white couple at a teen-age dance turned the affair into a swirling mass of battling youths of both races.

Police of five Greater Boston communities brought the melee under control within an hour Tuesday night but not before some 12 teen-agers suffered minor injuries.

Several hundred of the 1,200 whites at the dance were involved in the fracas, police said. No arrests were made.

Medford is a residential-industrial city of some 45,000, about five miles north of Bos-caution the 11 Medford officers were hired for special duty. Police herded the youths onto buses which had been waiting for the end of the dance. The scuffling continued sporadically on some of the buses and windows were smashed and seat cushions slashed.

Several policemen were hit by flying rock but none was reported injured seriously.

Bear Creek Man Reports Seeing Disguised Woman

Outagamie County sheriff authorities Tuesday night were on the lookout for the possible reappearance of a young woman who held up a rural Bear Creek to $500 Aug. 13 at the town man who had offered her a drink of water at his home last Friday.

Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke and Sheriff Calvin Spicer rushed to Bear Creek shortly after 8 p.m. Tuesday when it was reported that a young woman matching the description alighted from a car driven by a man and approached a Bear Creek farmhouse.

The incident occurred about 8 p.m. Sheriff authorities said the man and the car matched descriptions of those seen with the woman last Friday.

Didn't Answer Door
The woman knocked on the door of the farmhouse but the farmer did not answer the knock. Instead he notified Village Constable David Fletcher who in turn called sheriff authorities. The car was gone when authorities arrived at the farm home.

Zuelzke and Spicer searched the Bear Creek area throughout the night without finding a car matching the description of the car seen at the farmhouse. The car is described as a blue 1962 model sedan.

Friday, Paul Drews, 32, who lives along a short distance from Bear Creek, was robbed of $500 by the woman who, he said, appeared to be white but was disguised as an Indian woman.

Drews was sitting on his porch when the car was driven into his yard. The woman approached him and asked for a drink of water.

After drinking the water, the woman drew a revolver and ordered Drews to hand over his purse. Drews had been saving the money for his funeral expenses.

Drews told authorities that the couple had two small children with them when they drove away from his home. He did not get a license number.

The play is the annual summer presentation being presented by the drama, music, and dance groups.

It will be given Aug. 5-7 in U.S. Supreme Court last year, James Madison Junior High and a Wisconsin court subsequently admitted such practice

Gas Taxes Cost Wisconsin Drivers Almost $15,000 Hourly Every Day

Outagamie Petroleum Council Hears Report on Highway Funds, Proposals

Wisconsin motorists pay an average of only 40 cents in 1963 for every gallon of gasoline. The state gasoline tax, the executive federal government by state motor secretary of the Wisconsin motorists.

Petroleum Council said Tuesday. He said Wisconsin has sufficient funds to build highways without increasing the gasoline tax. Elliott read a letter from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

This is why the State Highway Commission has maintained a cash and receivables balance in excess of $100 million every month," he said.

"As further proof that these balances exist, an attempt was made last year to introduce legislation to transfer highway funds to balance the state budget," he added. "The move failed."

Warning Made
Elliott warned highway motorists will continue to propose increased highway taxes to build highways "whether we need them or not."

Increase Rejected
A proposal to increase the state gasoline tax was voted down by 85 per cent of Wisconsin voters in a referendum last April.

Elliott said attempts have been made to divert more federal highway funds to non-highway projects against the pending bill.

Expense List Requires $14 Tax Rate; Expected Costs Reduced by $94,000

HORTONVILLE — More than below actual expenses of last year school district voters Monday approved a $618,197 budget $132,000 last year accounts for about $94,000 below the actual difference in the two budgeting years.

Merlin Plamman won an uncontested election and Floyd Meyer was chosen over Philip Graf for the only board seats up for election. Next year three board seats will be decided.

The budget calls for a $14 per $1,000 of equalized valuation rate. The rate remains as last year but it is expected to bring about $20,000 more because of an increase in equalized valuation.

Loan Means Difference
Estimated expenses for the coming year are about $100,000

The board said the buildings would be sold through advertised bids or at an auction. In either case terms would be cash. It was believed this would automatically eliminate anyone that could not afford to remodel or rebuild.

Major problem facing the district, the board said, was there were more children than there is space for. The board's statement added that the district was using substandard rooms and were not getting the most out of its operation.

The board said the district needs elementary and high school additions as soon as possible. The board will be holding area meetings as soon as some definite plan for these additions is made. This would give all the voters a better opportunity to study the plans and discuss it with the board before final plans are approved.

In other business, electors voted to keep the board member salaries the same approved continuation of the free milk program authorized the board to make short-term loans and passed a resolution to use district buses to transport school children to any clinic held when buses are in operation.

Discussion of the school hot lunch program followed, but no action was taken.

State Unit Sets Date to Open Memorial Drive Project Bids

Senator Calls For Elimination Of Property Tax

Large Says Move Would Create Job Chances, Expansion

State Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, who is being opposed in the September GOP primary by George Buckley, an Appleton attorney, Tuesday night called for a 100 per cent elimination of the personal property tax.

In a speech to the Outagamie County Young Republican Club in the Conway Hotel, Lorge said the property tax elimination would create job opportunities and industrial expansion in the state.

Wisconsin's power to tax could be a tool for economic growth instead of strangulation of our small business establishments and farms, he said.

Lorge charged Gov. John Reynolds income tax increases in the lower tax brackets and general income tax increase along with the administration's selective sales tax "would be the major factors in the governor's defeat in his re-election campaign."

Resolution Adopted
The county group adopted a resolution opposing increases in any highway taxes.

New officers elected at the meeting are LaVerne Gallitz, chairman, Joe Kroner, vice chairman, and Jerome May, secretary, all of Appleton.

Committees include public relations Frank Reese, Appleton; B. J. Heitpas, Kaukauna; and Derbert Coenen, Seymour; legislative Heitpas, Robert Malchow, Appleton; and Art J. Smith, Kimberly. Local affairs D. A. Leiby, Dale and Coenen and schools G. R. Buschman and Cliff Andrews, Appleton, and M. T. Fannin, Hortonville.

Highway Commission Estimates Work Will Cost About $186,000

Bids for the Memorial Drive reconstruction project will be opened by the State Highway Commission in Madison Aug. 11. City officials were told today.

It has been estimated the intersection work will cost about $50,000. This figure is included in the overall $186,310 total.

Empey has requested city officials to set a maximum price on the total project as a guide for the highway commission when it reviews the bids next month.

Target Date
He said the commission would then be in a position to expedite awarding of construction contracts so the work can begin by mid-August.

Empey assured city officials the state will make a prompt decision on letting bids.

The entire Memorial Drive project is expected to be completed this fall according to the present timetable.

Controversy
The intersection phase of the project triggered considerable controversy among some residents in that area because portions of their land will be needed for the expansion.

The city has made jurisdictional offers to some of the property owners and arrived at terms with others. It would appear there are no foreseeable roadblocks in the way of the intersection revamping.

It was learned today city officials are still attempting to negotiate with Harold Mares, owner of the property at the southeast corner of the intersection for a strip of his land.

City Can Take Land
Mares has refused to sell after being offered $8,100 for land and damages.

However under terms of the law governing jurisdictional offers, the city will be able to take possession of the land and the project will not be delayed.

The property owner who rejects the city's jurisdictional offer can take the case to court and have a price set there.

The State of Wisconsin through the highway aids program will pay for 85 per cent or $141,530 of the total cost of the Memorial Drive work.

City's Share
L. W. Empey, Green Bay district engineer for the State Highway Commission said the city's share will be $44,780.

Partly in jest, but with serious overtones, remarks were made that he not only had become a TV star overnight, but also had become a household word in millions of homes from coast to coast.

"Father Laird"
One California member, who said he had been called on to serve as chairman of the California Republican Platform Committee asked for guidance from Father Laird in drafting his state's document of principles.

"My advice would be to stay away from the job," grinned Laird.

The Marshfield congressman, who took time off after the convention for a little rest and recreation looked and acted in the best of condition. He jokingly passed off the compliments tossed his way and on several occasions even seemed embarrassed by them.

Voted Wrong
But one thing showed that he was not unaffected by this appreciation.

During a roll call vote on a minor bill, Laird exclaimed to a friend, "I just found out I voted wrong on this thing. I'll have to go in and change my vote."

And Laird just isn't in the habit of making mistakes like that.

Peddler Permit Law Adopted in Appleton

Transient Business Applicants Will Be Checked by Police Before Approval

So-called transient merchants will have to be investigated and obtain a permit before they can do business in Appleton under terms of an ordinance adopted recently by the common council.

The ordinance covers peddlers, solicitors, canvassers or others transacting any temporary or transient business in Appleton. Included are transient photographers and truckers.

An investigation fee of $5 will be charged by the city for each person covered by permit. Filled out applications will be turned over to the chief of police who will investigate the applicant's business and moral character.

The chief will either approve or reject the application within 72 hours.

Bond Possible
If police feel the applicant can do business in the city but the municipality should have some protection, the applicant may be required to post a $500 bond.

For months there has been considerable support for an ordinance regulating peddlers and others. The purpose of the recently adopted legislation is not to exceed 90 days. The section for safeguarding the residents and conviction calls for a $100 fine and maximum six months in jail.

Persons convicted of their first violation are subject to a fine of $1 to $100 and/or jail sentence charges which were brought against him March 26 by Appleton police. He had originally pleaded innocent and was sitting at the playground, police said.

Warren Knowles Up Early to Shake Hands in Twin Cities

GOP Governor Candidate Hits Campaign Trail

BY MIKE PETRICK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — MENASHA — A hearty smile and firm handshake — the traditional trademark of a trail-stomping candidate for public office — greeted workers at two Neenah factories early this morning and shoppers in Twin City business areas later.

Warren Knowles, Republican candidate for governor but the campaign trail at 5:30 a.m. as he played door tender, greeter and handshaker to employees at Kimberly-Clark main office.

"How are you this morning," he asked a K-C worker "Sleepy," he replied. Knowles and a crew of three colleagues, including Neenah Assemblyman David Martin, showed no signs of sleepiness as they introduced themselves, shook hands, handed out campaign literature and chatted briefly with the employees.

Scene Shifted

At 6:30 a.m. the scene shifted to the Cecil Street plant of Marathon Corp. "What are you doing up so early," an employee inquired. "Working," Knowles answered.

The campaign group munched a breakfast of ham and eggs at the Holiday Inn at 7:30, then returned to K-C to greet office workers.

The rest of the morning was spent talking to shoppers at downtown Neenah and downtown Menasha.

Knowles left the Twin Cities for New Holstein shortly before noon. He attended a picnic in Hilbert this afternoon and will return to Neenah tonight.

Oshkosh Thursday

He will spend Thursday morning and part of the afternoon campaigning in Oshkosh and travel to various cities in Green Lake County Thursday afternoon.

On Friday Knowles will be in

Municipal Building Drawings to be Shown To Menasha Officials

MENASHA — City department heads will be presented with preliminary drawings denoting space and service facilities for the proposed municipal building within a week, Robert Paynter of Sauter-Seaborn, Appleton architectural firm said today.

Paynter also announced that photographing of two proposed sites for the building has been completed.

The firm made the preliminary drawings after extensive interviews with Menasha department heads as to amount of space needed and other facilities required by each department in the new building.

The photographs were made to help the firm in its study of the two sites — Racine Park and the area between Chute and Main Streets in the vicinity of the present City Hall.

A site recommendation will be made to the municipal building committee as soon as collection of other data is complete, Paynter said.

Wanderlust Proves Too Much For Youthful Appleton Boy

NEENAH — An 8-year-old Appleton youth with a vivid imagination and wanderlust was turned over to juvenile authorities after being picked up in the Menasha bus station Monday. Bus station officials became suspicious and called police when the youngster asked the fare to Chicago. When asked if he was planning to run away, the youth said he had a sister living in Chicago and wondered how much it would cost to visit her.

A patrolman took the boy to an address on Betty Street, finding no one home, the policeman went next door to ask where the family was. He was told the family had no children. In the meantime the youth tried to slip away through the back yard.

Later the youngster admitted living in Appleton. He said he had broken into the Betty Street home and also one in Appleton. He admitted taking about $3 in half dollars from the Betty Street home.

He is being questioned by Appleton juvenile authorities.

Kaukauna Farmer Gets $650 for Damages

A 12-man jury in Outagamie County Court Branch 3 Tuesday ordered $650 to a Town of Kaukauna farmer for injuries he received in a fight last October with another Town of Kaukauna farmer.

The jury ruled that Joseph Vander Heiden be awarded $550 compensatory damages and an additional $100 for punitive damages from Gordon Kerrigan.

The action was brought by Vander Heiden after the two men scuffled at a tavern in Kaukauna.

Fisher was arrested Sunday night by city police who said he was intoxicated and was trying to enter a private apartment.

The Perfect Companion

Riverside Players Open 'Harvey' on Thursday

NEENAH — An invisible six-foot-tall, non-existent rabbit finds the perfect companion in Leonard (Chuck) LaPointe in Riverside Players second summer production, "Harvey," opening at 8:30 p.m. Thursday for a four-night stand in Riverside Park pavilion.

In a cast heavy with humorous characters, Chuck has an opportunity to go, and denies he is being type-casted. As Elwood — he leaves them laughing. A comparative newcomer to Riverside audiences, Chuck is a speech correctionist for the Menasha Public Schools and a graduate of Michigan State University.

Adapts Quickly

Elwood's widowed sister Veta Louise Simmons is played by Mrs. Margaret Heyn. This mother of four children has been quick to adapt herself to the whimsical characterization.

Mary Chase's fanciful fun takes on a bit of the real as Myrtle Mae Simmons, daughter to Veta and niece to Elwood, shows her feathers as an eager, naive single girl worrying about her social position and chances with the opposite sex. Liz Kempinger handles the role with comparable ease.

Stepping out from his research at Kimberly Clark, Paul Hansen takes on the role of Dr. William Chumley, head psychologist at Chumley's Rest. He is amusing, especially in the third act as the unbalanced sanitarium head man who is "privileged" to see the invisible pooka, Harvey.

Because she is a real trouper and has the professional touch, Mrs. Lois Sacher as Ruth Kelly, R.N., pretty assistant at the sanitarium, lends realism to the play.

As the proud but eager young psychologist Dr. Lyman Sanderson, Terence Roberts humorously mistakes Mrs. Simmons as the abnormal patient rather than the committer of her brother, Elwood.

The strong arm attendant at the sanitarium, Duane Wilson, is played by Jerry Yetter.

Relative Newcomer

A relative newcomer to the stage, Carl Matson emerges as an extremely jocular Judge Omar Gaffney. His manner of speaking and emphasis produces a bit of droll humor to an otherwise serious law enforcer.

Betty Whitcomb, active both on and off stage for Riverside will be seen as Mrs. Betty Chumley, jovial wife of the doctor, caught fire and damaged the building.

As the wealthy socialite Mrs.

Ethel Chauvenet, Miss Alice Viestenz, enacts Elwood's favorite aunt.

A hidden talent emerges from the Neenah High School faculty in the person of Wilson Scribner. He plays a semi-crude and hilarious cab driver.

Pat Condon will play Miss Johnson, the maid, but her major contribution to the production will be as the prompter for the show.

See No Improvement in Low Lake Water Levels

Experts Propose Plans but Make No Recommendations at Michigan Talks

BY RAY PAGES
Post-Crescent News Service
EAST LANSING, Mich. — There was little to cheer the representatives who came here Tuesday to consider the low water levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron.

Experts testified the situation, worst on record, is causing serious and costly problems. And neither the experts nor the officials offered even scant hope for any significant improvement in the next year or two.

Water diversion, impoundment and stabilization projects were advocated as long-range remedies. All such suggestions were general in nature, and need for further studies was emphasized.

17 Speakers
Seventeen speakers, mostly engineers and other technical men, participated in the one-day Great Lakes Levels Conference at Michigan State University here. Most of the unexpectedly large attendance was drawn from Michigan and Wisconsin. About 25 registered from the Province of Ontario.

At least some had come anticipating specific recommendations from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. They were disappointed.

Harvey F. Lawhead, Chicago, chief of the engineers' Great Lakes hydraulics branch, said a little more time is needed.

Sadles Not Ready
"From an engineering standpoint, these lakes could be regulated to reduce the extremes of stage (high and low levels) that have been experienced," he said.

"Our studies of the economic feasibility are not yet completed and, consequently, anything that can be said now with respect to our findings is provisional."

The report on the regulation phase of the studies, he said, "is scheduled for completion this calendar year."

Lack of Precipitation
Michigan and Huron are the two lakes seriously affected by low water levels. The other three Great Lakes, it was shown, are close to normal.

Lawhead and others testified lack of precipitation in the lakes basin has been a major factor in causing the low water levels. Capt. John Manley, Chicago's port director, added that he believed dredging of deep channels in the St. Clair and Detroit rivers for the St. Lawrence Seaway also was an important factor.

Manley advocated control installations of some type to control the flow of the rivers. Lawhead agreed, but he said this kind of project would require a "considerable" outlay of funds.

Divert Water
Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said his own study shows the need for diverting water from Canadian rivers into the lakes system. Canadians, he said, were suffering from the same problems.

Such a project, he said, would require Canadian participation but "there is ample evidence that our neighbors to the north are suffering as acutely as we are from the low levels."

The interest, if not yet the offer to help, of the Canadian government was brought out by Robert J. Boyer, Toronto, a member of Parliament. He is vice chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Referring to a study made in Canada, Boyer said:

"It was concluded that precipitation and evaporation were the main factors causing the wide fluctuations in lake levels. The distinct lowering of the mean level of Lakes Michigan-Huron over the years, however, suggests that channel changes at the Lake Huron outlet may have a significant effect."

Boyer said river diversions from northern areas might help. He said, however, further research is necessary before any specific recommendations can be made.

If nothing is done, several engineers warned, water level fluctuations can be expected in the future. They said there is the possibility of extremely high levels occurring, as they have in the past, but this also is not desirable.

An industry witness testified the falling levels probably have caused an annual $100 million loss to industry in the past few years.

Child Welfare Worker Quits

Winnebago County's Richard Jansen Takes State Post

OSHKOSH — The resignation of Richard Jansen, child welfare worker, to take a post with the State Department of Public Welfare was announced today by Welfare Director Norman Whitford.

Jansen will reside in Green Bay, his native city, and will be a county services supervisor with the State Welfare Department.

He has been on the Winnebago County staff for the last two years after receiving a master's degree in social work from the University of California. Previously he had been with the Manitowoc County Welfare Department.

While in Oshkosh, Jansen initiated the group work method of interviewing, a project which will be continued, and served as program chairman for the Eastern Wisconsin Welfare Association.

His resignation creates a third vacancy in the Winnebago County Welfare Department.

A public assistance caseworker still is being sought to succeed Jerome Drake, who was promoted to casework supervisor when Norman Dineen resigned effective July 15 to take a post with the Division of Mental Hygiene of the State Department of Public Welfare.

The newly established post of caseworker to serve county hospital patients also has not been filled, Whitford said.

He charged that the pair had beaten him July 17 at the Riverside Bar, Little Chute.

Nationwide Program Exams Begin in State for Youths Registered for Selective Service

BY FRANK CREPEAU

MADISON (AP)—Physical and mental examinations of Wisconsin 18-year-olds registering for the draft got underway this month as part of a nationwide program designed to identify and help the one-third of the nation's young men unsuited for military service.

The plan for early examination of selective service registrants was proposed by a presidential task force which found that of the 1.4 million men turning 18 in 1964, about 500,000 would be disqualified for mental and physical reasons.

Before the new plan was put into effect, examinations were not given until the men were called up at age 21 or 22.

About 2,500 men register each month in Wisconsin, according to Col. Bentley Courtenay, state selective service director. Of that number, about 800 will be classified I-A and receive examinations, Courtenay said.

Some deferments will be deferred on grounds of hardship, membership in military reserve units, or occupation, Courtenay said.

Educational deferments continue on a liberal basis and if a student is making satisfactory progress he is usually eligible for deferment.

No statistics are yet available on Wisconsin men undergoing examinations this month, but nationwide figures gathered on 1962 draftees showed that 57.9 percent of those taking pre-induction examinations from Kansas City, clear 93 74.

Wisconsin were found acceptable. The figures ranged from 33.8 percent in South Carolina to 74.5 percent in Alaska.

Courtenay stressed that just 18-year-olds are being examined it doesn't mean they will be drafted if they pass.

Draft Notices "Some of them become alarmed when they get an order from the draft board," Courtenay said, "but they won't be considered for military service at least until they are well past 20."

The draft call reaches young men at about the ages 21 1/2 to 22 and Courtenay said the early examination bears "no relation" to when the men will be shipped to when the men will be called.

Wisconsin now gets a call to furnish about 250 to 300 men a month for the draft. Courtenay, because of inability to qualify said the pool of men who can on the mental test.

Those who fail the mental test are referred to local offices of the U.S. Employment Service, in Wisconsin they will be handled by the State Employment Service for counseling and help in finding jobs.

Max J. Hays of the Employment Service said that starting in February, his office sent out about 800 letters to rejectees and about 150 to 200 of those contacted local offices for assistance.

The nationwide survey by the presidential task force found that of those who fail the examinations, about half are rejected for medical reasons and half for mental test.

Flowers wounded the bear Saturday and tracked it into the dense brush. Finding the bear lying in the brush the hunter thought it was dead. The bear reared up and charged. Flowers stuck his right hand into the bear's mouth to protect himself when his gun misfired. He finally got free by kicking it in the stomach until he could wriggle free. (AP Wirephoto)

Youth Killed When Souvenir Explodes

World War II Shell Goes Off as Winneconne Boys Tamper With It

WINNECONNE — Souvenir can be explosive and deadly. Two Winneconne youths found that out Tuesday in a garage where they were tampering with a 5-inch tapered metal cylinder. One of the youths, Dale Gehrke, 16, was killed instantly. The other, Jerry Wenzel, 17, received critical injuries from shrapnel type pieces of metal all over his body. He underwent 4 1/2 hours of emergency surgery at Mercy Hospital in Oshkosh.

Winnebago County Sheriff Richard Bud' Lowell said today he believes the detonated object was a souvenir from World War II—a 37mm anti-tank shell.

The explosion took place about 3:20 p.m. Tuesday in the garage of Wenzel's parents. According to a fragmentary story told to authorities by Wenzel, the boys found the shell in a tin can in the garage. Lowell said it may have been left there by a previous owner.

The youths put the object in a vice on a work bench in the garage. While Gehrke stood behind the vice, holding it, Wenzel struck the shell with a hammer, detonating it.

The blast threw each boy about four feet backwards and Gehrke was killed instantly. Pieces of shrapnel struck Gehrke in the legs, abdomen, arms, neck and head. Wenzel was hit in the abdomen.

After the explosion, Wenzel staggered out of the garage and called to neighbors for help. The explosion shattered the steel vice and unbedded pieces of metal in the garage walls. Winnebago Police Chief Garrett Peterson described the explosion as being "like a hand grenade."

Plan Search

Peterson said a thorough search would be made of the garage to see if there are more shells around.

Lowell said today he is sending pieces of the exploded vice along with shrapnel like pieces of metal to the State Crime Laboratory in Madison to determine exactly what the object was.

Neighbors described the explosion as a "terrific blast" that shattered several windows in the area.

GAO Says Errors in Army Allotment Pay $2 Million Annually

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office said Tuesday that bad administration of the Army's allotment system is costing the government about $2 million a year in erroneous payments.

At least $340,000 of this amount is never recovered from the servicemen who get the erroneous payments, the congressional agency added.

The most common error it reported is the failure to make proper deductions for U.S. savings bonds, government life insurance and support of dependents on allotment requests.

The GAO said mistakes occur primarily because Army personnel and finance workers are not properly trained to do the job. It also said that the Army's allotment system is "outdated and inefficient."

Loss of 3 Planes Laid To Navigational Error

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist air force said a navigational error by the lead plane apparently caused the crash of three military transport planes into a mountain in south Formosa.

The planes were on a mission to deliver supplies to the Nationalist forces in the mountainous region.

Senate Backs Bill for Meat Import Quota

U. S. Officials Hope Measure Will be Rejected by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials today looked to the House to kill a meat import quota bill passed by an overwhelming 72-15 Senate margin.

The legislation, long sought by the livestock industry, won votes from 50 Democrats and 22 Republicans late Tuesday after a six-hour Senate debate.

Only nine Democrats and six Republicans, mostly from large consumer states, opposed it.

The bill would establish quotas on beef, veal and mutton imports based on 1959-63 levels. This would mean a cut to about 12 billion pounds from the record 17 billion level of last year — a 30 per cent reduction.

Predict Higher Prices

The bill's foes said the measure had a strong political appeal in the Senate because the cattle industry has become nationwide and affects a majority of the states.

But they argued the bill would inevitably lead to higher prices and that the consumer interest would be more important in the House.

The administration was counting on the strong liberal trade majority in the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles all such legislation, to defeat the meat bill.

The measure's Senate supporters said that meat imports

Testimony by Valachi Topic At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Narcotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano is expected to key his testimony on drug traffic to hitherto secret testimony by mobster Joseph Valachi.

Giordano is appearing before the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, which is holding hearings on the illicit flow of narcotic drugs into the United States and Canada.

The committee released testimony Tuesday that was taken in secret last fall from Valachi about his venture into the drug business. Valachi, now serving a life term for murder and narcotics offenses, said he was double-crossed by nine partners in the crime syndicate "Cosa Nostra."

Valachi said he lost his borrowed investment in narcotics only to be "bawled out" by Vito Genovese, who pocketed the profit from heroin smuggled from France.

Giordano warned against any relaxation of pressure on traffickers and addicts in endorsing the need for additional legal weapons against narcotics.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), has introduced a bill to legalize telephone wiretapping by police if authorized by secret court order.

13 Indicted as Postal Burglars

NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury has indicted 13 men described by federal prosecutors as "the largest gang of burglars to plague the Post Office Department since its founding in 1794."

The office of U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hoey in Brooklyn gave that description of the men charged with looting seven New Jersey post offices.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin R. Follner said the gang set two records.

The largest stamp burglary, a $77,000 haul at the Fairview (N.J.) post office last Jan. 12.

The largest money order burglary, which netted blanks with a maximum value of $592,920 at the Keyport (N.J.) post office last March 12.

Many of California's Redwoods Endangered by Freeway Projects

BY BILL BOYARSKY
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A primeval beach and nearby redwood trees which were living before Christ have touched off a rebellion among state park officials against California's powerful freeway builders.

Tossing protocol aside, members of the State Park Commission and other state officials have publicly criticized the California Highway Commission and demanded a limit on its power to condemn park land for freeways.

State Too Important

"We have almost established in modern life a divine attitude toward the automobile," said Charles A. DeTurk, director of the State Department of Parks and Recreation.

At Prairie Creek, the two-lane road cuts through a forest with trees so tall that tourists have been making further studies at the request of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, hasn't decided on a route. But Sam Helwer, Division of Highways district engineer, admitting the need for widening the road, opposes two of three here, has indicated he favors a freeway.

Local interests, saving the ridge route is $6 million more expensive, favor the bench free.

Ranger 7 Expected to Crash On Lighted Section of Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A half midcourse maneuver was a target area of the lighted side of the moon — a space scientist said today after an apparently successful midway maneuver of the rocket.

May be Landing Spot

The area, called the Sea of Clouds by ancient astronomers, who imagined the flat spaces on the moon were bodies of water, was chosen as a photographic target because it could be a good landing spot for U.S. astronauts within a few years.

Pickering obviously elated said it appears the spacecraft did what it was supposed to do "but we must analyze tracking data for several hours before we can determine the impact area precisely."

Ranger 7, latest attempt of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to take closeup pictures of the surface of the moon, was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Tuesday morning.

Politics, Riots Discussed by Rights Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the nation's major civil rights organizations meet in a "summit" conference today, with Northern race riots and national politics high on the agenda.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, warned in his call for the meeting of the possibility of "increasingly violent and futile disorder."

Besides Wilkins, those scheduled to meet at the NAACP headquarters are Whitney M. Young, executive director of the Urban League; A. Philip Randolph, chairman of the National Negro American Labor Council; Louis Lomax, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee; James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality; and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Challenge at Polls

In his invitation to the other leaders, Wilkins called the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as the Republican candidate for president a factor that could produce the sternest challenge we have yet seen.

He had said shortly after the Republican convention that

3 Buses and Trailer Crash On Turnpike

EDISON, N.J. (AP) — Three buses and a tractor-trailer were involved in a collision on the New Jersey Turnpike today, sending some 40 persons to hospitals. No serious injuries were reported.

Hospitals said four persons were admitted in fair condition and five more may be admitted. The rest of the injured were expected to be treated and released.

Passengers said two buses were stopped on the shoulder of the turnpike's northbound lanes prior to the accident. A third bus stopped partly off the highway and a fourth bus was slowing down behind it. The truck coming up from the rear, collided with the last bus.

Escape Through Windows

"Everyone was calm and easier for newsmen to challenge," a passenger on the government agencies which refuse to give out information said later.

Police said the accident occurred about 7:30 a.m. There was no fog, police said.

The injured were taken to Perth Amboy General Hospital and St. Peter's and Middlesex General hospitals in New Brunswick.

Senate Delays Bill on Freedom Of Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey has delayed — at least temporarily — a freedom of information bill designed to make it easier for newsmen to challenge government agencies which refuse to give out information.

Humphrey entered a motion for reconsideration of the measure shortly after the Senate passed it Tuesday by voice vote.

The Minnesota Democrat said several senators had told him there should be some discussion on the measure.

Similar legislation has been pending before the House Judiciary Committee for more than a year.

Jointly sponsored by Sen. Edward V. Long (D-Mo.) and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the legislation would permit federal court suits to challenge the withholding of information and would put the burden of proof on the agencies to defend their refusal to give out information.

The bill would also require an agency's public information policies to be published and made available to the public.

Hortonville Voters Approve $618,197 Budget for School

Expenses Call for $14 Tax Rate; Expected Costs Drop $94,000

HORTONVILLE — More than 300 school district voters Monday approved a $618,197 budget about $94,000 below the actual operating cost of the previous year.

Merlin Plamman won an uncontested election and Floyd Meyer was chosen over Philipp Graf for the only board seats up for election. Next year three board seats will be decided.

The budget calls for a $14 per $1,000 of equalized valuation tax rate. The rate remains as last year, but it is expected to bring in about $20,000 more because of an increase in equalized valuation.

Loan Means Difference
Estimated expenses for the coming year are about $100,000 below actual expenses of last year. A short term loan of $132,000 last year accounts for the difference in the two budgets.

A $5 fee for renting textbooks was approved by the school district. A $2 refund will be given if books are returned in good shape. A $2 rental fee was approved for the grade school. In both cases workbooks will be furnished free.

The school board was given permission to dispose of the Hillsdale School now and of 12 buildings and property eventually. These are mostly vacant due to consolidation of the district. About one-half of the land will go back to the original owners or their heirs because of reverter clauses in the deeds.

The board said the buildings would be sold through advertised bids or at an auction. In either case, terms would be cash. It was believed this would automatically eliminate anyone that could not afford to remodel or rebuild.

Major problem facing the district, the board said, was there were more children than there is space for. The board's statement added that the district was using substandard rooms and were not getting the most out of its operation.

The board said the district needs elementary and high school additions as soon as possible. The board will be holding area meetings as soon as some definite plan for these additions is made. This would give all the voters a better opportunity to study the plans and discuss it with the board before final plans are approved.

Melvin Laird Praised by Colleagues

GOP Platform Head Back in Washington After Convention

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Back on the house floor for the first time today since San Francisco, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R., Marshfield, virtually held "court" with the admiring colleagues offering glowing praise for his work at the GOP National Convention as platform chairman.

Between quorum calls, Republican congressmen who had not attended the convention, came up to Laird in the speakers' lobby to shake hands, or slap him on the back, according to their own individual tastes, and congratulate him on his "performance" in presenting the platform to the delegates and obtaining their acceptance of it in toto.

Partly in jest, but with serious overtones, remarks were made that he not only had become a TV star overnight, but also had become a household word in millions of homes from coast to coast.

"Father Laird"

One California member, who said he had been called on to serve as chairman of the California Republican Platform Committee, asked for "guidance from Father Laird," in drafting his state's document of principles.

"My advice would be to stay away from the job," grinned Laird.

The Marshfield congressman, who took time off after the convention for a little rest and recreation, looked and acted in the best of conditions. The jokingly passed off the compliments tossed his way, and on several occasions even seemed embarrassed by them.

Voted Wrong

But one thing showed that he was not unaffected by this appreciation.

During a roll call vote on a minor bill, Laird exclaimed to a friend, "I just found out I voted wrong on this thing. I'll have to go in and change my vote."

And Laird just isn't in the habit of making mistakes like that.

Brillion Voters OK $300,000 Budget

Tax Rate Down
BRILLION—Voters of the Brillion School District approved a budget calling for a $307,132 tax levy for the 1964-65 school year at their annual school meeting Monday evening July 27.

The tax levy is based on a tax rate of 15.00 mills as compared with last year's rate of 15.01 mills. The district's current equalized valuation is $30,475,500.

The total budget adopted calls for $444,318.02 in receipts and $402,866.39 in disbursements. The district will receive $30,475.00 from state aid and $9,520 from federal aid.

The remainder of the $444,318.02 will be received from tuition from other districts, utility tax, property rental, school registration fees, school lunch collections and local taxes.

General Control
Expenditures show $29,450 appropriated for general control, $205,949.52 for instruction, $26,290 for operation, $20,400 for maintenance, $25,125 for school lunch, $7,744.47 for other disbursements, $29,128.52 for transportation, $120 for community services, $17,642.63 for capital outlay and $41,016.25 for debt service. Both Mr. Harrison Weaver, board president, and Mr. Gaylord Unbehauen, superintendent, stated that they felt it would not be feasible to increase again the lunch fee.

Shortened School Year
Several people discussed the probability of shortening the school year or shortening the Easter and Christmas vacations. This would permit school to be dismissed earlier in spring in 1965, and a visiting professor of music at Wisconsin State University, Stevens Point.

Chronic Traffic Violators

We are apt to consider violations of traffic laws as being in some separate category from other law breaking. The public is generally outraged about a window peeper or a man who mistreats a dog. But we regard a driver who hurtles his car down a highway at 80 miles an hour as just an unlucky person who made the mistake of passing a squad car.

Data assembled at the Milwaukee House of Correction would seem to prove rather conclusively that chronic traffic offenders often are defective in other social roles. Some 44 per cent had been referred to juvenile authorities as a child about one-third had been expelled or suspended from school, more than half had failed a grade in school 22 per cent did not graduate from grade school and only 25 per cent graduated from high school. A total of 133 out of 216 had been committed for offenses other than traffic violations. Some 37 per cent had been fired from their jobs and nearly half were unemployed.

It is time that the law start differentiating between the chronic traffic violator and the occasional one. It is particularly vital that we step up the crackdown on the driver who continues to operate a motor vehicle after his license has been suspended.

A high percentage of our traffic accidents involve chronic traffic violators. And these simply must be removed from the road.

Problems Facing Goldwater

Sen. Barry Goldwater has the East to the "left" of him and the South to the "right" of him. In order to win a national election, he must move a little bit in each direction to win necessary voter support. But if he moves too much in one direction or another, he could lose the only areas of solid support which professional pollsters say he has.

From the eastern, or "moderate wing," of the Republican Party he is faced with the prospect of several prominent Republicans withholding their support. Among them are New York's Sen. Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin (a former GOP governor of Maryland), Gov. John H. Reed of Maine, Rep. Silvio Conte of Massachusetts, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont and Rep. James G. Fulton of Pennsylvania, to name just a few. And there is Walter S. Mack, New York, president of the Pepsi-Cola Co., and a long time Republican fund-raiser, who is forming a committee of "Independent Republicans and citizens for Johnson." Before he obtains any semblance of support from this group in the populous eastern states (with so many key electoral votes), Goldwater obviously would have to tone down his stands on civil rights and extremism.

On the other hand, however, Goldwater may be ahead of President Johnson in the southern states. In moments of candor Democratic leaders have admitted they may be in deep trouble. Gov. George Wallace's withdrawal from the presidential race and the switch of his supporters to Goldwater makes it even worse for the Democrats. Goldwater's rejection of the civil rights bill and his state's rights stand have been a rallying cry for GOP leaders in Dixie. That Dixie is no longer a solid citadel for Democratic votes has been shown since 1952 when Gen. Eisenhower polled 48 per cent of the southern vote, but now the Republican presidential candidate, pollsters say, may sweep it all. Eisenhower took 51 per cent of the votes in 1956 and Richard Nixon got 47 per cent in 1960, but still carried four states. The latest Louis Harris poll puts Goldwater ahead of Johnson in the south 55 to 45 per cent.

The Arizona senator's overall national popularity has jumped from 26 to 36 per cent in the latest Harris poll, a gain, but far short of a majority. And, candidates' popularity usually rises shortly after a national convention.

Goldwater, then, must hold onto his southern support and also make gains elsewhere. The East seems doubtful but the Midwest and West Coast potentially are helpful areas.

Will the senator attempt to appease dissident groups with his call to GOP leaders from all over the country to a summit meeting aimed at party unity? Among those to be invited, Goldwater aides say, are former President Eisenhower, Nixon, Rockefeller, Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and probably Michigan Gov. George Romney.

There is speculation that Goldwater will make concessions in order to gain support. But if he does, he might antagonize some of the staunch supporters he now has, something he cannot afford to do.

Sen. Goldwater is learning a hard lesson of politics. "Think with your head, not your heart."

The senator has given the American people the image of a man who, whether they support his ideas or not, is a man of principle. If Goldwater abandons his principles for the sake of political expediency, he would lose his image of honest dedication to the cause of conservatism. His unyielding dedication to his principles is his strongest asset. Any other course would be disappointing to friend and foe . . . and probably fatal.

Vote Counting by Computer

Electronic devices will be tested for the first time this fall in tabulating vote returns. DeKalb County, Georgia, a suburb of Atlanta, will vote by a device that punches holes in computer cards which are then tabulated by a central computer. In San Diego, Calif., voters will mark paper ballots by hand as usual but the votes will then be counted by new electronic tallies.

The new devices are considerably cheaper than the closet-sized pull-lever voting machines which have been in use since the end of World War II. The latter cost about $1,500 a unit versus $150 to $400 for the new devices.

Dare Lincolmites Reject Peace?

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 28, 1864.

When this war commenced it was waged upon our part to suppress insurrection and compel a return of those engaged in it to their allegiance to the government.

It was, therefore, a war in favor of the Constitution and the Union and nothing else.

This object was avowed by the President, Cabinet and Congress and most heartily endorsed by ninety-nine one-hundredths of the people of the Free States. Although the design to make it a crusade for the forcible abolition of Negro servitude, with or without the consent of slave or owner, was doubtless entertained by a few, it met neither endorsement nor encouragement from the multitude.

The war has been in violation of the Constitution by the fulmination of a besotted Executive and official rhodomontade of a stupid egotistical and venal Congress to the extent of their functions diverted into a war of extermination of Southern Citizens, the confiscation of his property and the forcible freedom of the slave.

What consideration will the shoddy Administration give to the Confederate proposal of peace? What conclusions will the people come to in the premises? The issue is a return to duty by the people of the rebellious States and an obedience to the Constitution. Dare the Lincolmites reject a proposal of that kind? What saith the powers that be to the proposal for peace? And what is the decision of the people?

Johnson Being Urged to Take Stronger Anti-Communist Stand

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

President Johnson is receiving blunt advice from Democratic party leaders on one of his growing political problems—the defection of ethnic group voters to GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Aroused by private polls showing shifts of 10 to 20 per cent among Polish-American voters in the big Eastern and Midwestern cities, Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., Speaker John McCormack, Mass., and Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley have privately called on the President to take a tougher stand on the two major issues affecting these nationality groups.

They warned the President that he must publicly support a stronger stand against continued Communist expansion and control over the Eastern European satellites.

In one White House meeting, Senator Dodd, a long-time political ally, frankly told the President that if the administration's policy of seeking "accommodations" with the Soviet Union isn't shelved, it could cost him the election.

"Goldwater's charge that the administration is seeking peace with Russia at the expense of the people in Eastern Europe is having as much impact on the nationality groups as the backlash from civil rights," reported Dodd.

"The polls are beginning to show this," agreed the President. "You have always been a strong anti-Communist. No body can accuse you of being soft. What do you recommend I do to counteract this development?"

"I would be just as tough on the Communists as Goldwater," replied Dodd. "And I would begin by shelving the policy of seeking accommodations with the Soviet Union. This could be done by inserting a strong plank in the platform opposing Communist aggression throughout the whole world."

"If I did that, would they accuse me of junking Kennedy's foreign policy?" asked the President. "Any major changes in policy would have all the liberals on my back."

"They don't want Goldwater elected," said Dodd. "You go ahead and draft a strong plank, and I'll circulate it among my foreign policy advisers to see what happens."

Later, Speaker McCormack and Mayor Daley followed up Dodd's conference with meetings with the President in which they made the same foreign policy recommendations.

Mayor Daley also urged the President to take a stronger stand against racial disorder, stating that he should speak out publicly denouncing the use of street demonstrations to enforce the civil rights bill.

President Johnson said he would seriously consider these suggestions.

THE NEW SYMBOL — The newly-erected memorial to Taras Shevchenko, 19th century Ukrainian poet and freedom fighter, is becoming a major symbol of the growing differences between the Johnson Administration and Republican leaders on policies dealing with Russia and Eastern Europe.

At the historic unveiling of the Shevchenko statue here, former President Eisenhower stirred a crowd of more than 80,000 with a speech that harked back to the "liberation" proposals of the late Secretary of State Dulles.

Highlight of the Eisenhower speech came when he told the leaders of the most influential groups of Ukrainians, Poles and Hungarians in America that:

"My hope is that your march from the shadow of the Washington Monument to the foot of the statue of Shevchenko will here kindle a new world movement in the hearts, minds, words and actions of men—a never-ending movement dedicated to the independence and freedom of people of all captive nations of the entire world."

In sharp contrast to this ringing declaration was the Johnson administration's complete silence. President Johnson and Secretary of State Rusk declined the invitations of the Shevchenko Committee to appear or even send messages honoring the Ukrainian poet, on the ground that such action would offend Russia and might upset the present U.S.-Soviet detente.

When one member of the committee called at the White House to discuss the possibility of either the President or Rusk attending the ceremony, presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy told him:

"The State Department considers the Ukraine part of the Soviet Union. This administration is against stirring up trouble with Russia by publicly honoring Shevchenko" (who fought for the Ukraine's freedom).

Plans are underway by political strategists of GOP standard-bearer Goldwater to emphasize these policy differences by having former President Eisenhower make at least one nationally-televized speech from the Shevchenko Memorial during the campaign.

POLITICAL FALLOUT — With Barry Goldwater the GOP candidate, the White House has passed the word to soft-pedal U.S.-Soviet relations until after the election. The President has ruled out all visits of high U.S. officials to Moscow until after November . . . The newly-signed consular treaty between the U.S. and Moscow will not be submitted to the Senate until January.

Wisconsin Report

Survey of Lawmakers' Income Reveals Some Interesting Results

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—Included in the voluminous stack of material on the desk when this reporter returned from a holiday was a press release from Howard J. Koop, the commissioner of the State Department of Administration, disclosing the results of his examination of the income status of members of the state legislature.

Mr. Koop assumed that these men are "state employees," in the sense of the request of Sen. Ernest Kopp of Sheboygan for a study of the salary brackets of state employees. Obviously they are not "state employees," in the usual sense. They are elected officers, and parttime officials, moreover.

Yet there is an enormous and usually critical interest among voters about the emoluments of elected public office, which Mr. Koop undoubtedly had in mind. An example is the current fussing by the opponents of some members of the U.S. Congress about their recent votes authorizing pay raises in the federal government service, including their own salaries.

It can be predicted with absolute certainty that some of the legislative campaigns this year will be based on the charge by challengers that incumbents feathered their own nests when they authorized pay and expense account increases for the legislature last year.

What is fair pay for an elected representative in the legislature will always cause arguments according to the tastes of the individual, and more especially, his own economic status. Yet a reasonable appraisal now is that the new pay and expense law for senators and assemblymen is a generous one, put against other state pay practices, municipal salary policies, and prevalent practices in private life.

For the record starting next January, each member of the legislature will get $450 a month in state salary for the duration of his term, plus $15 a day during that period he spends in Madison plus an expense account when he is out of session and living at home, varying according to the geographical size of his district.

Conversely, it is shown that there are numbers of legislators, perhaps more than most of their constituents would guess, who earn at a very thin rate and who, in point of fact, are apparently living largely on the modest pay authorized for them as elected representatives. A couple of them reported gross income that was less than that which actually was paid to them by the state for their legislative services. This might occasion some eyebrow raising among the tax assessors.

CURIOSITY

Strictly Personal

Curious Gulliver Has Become Child's Book

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the books the children took up for the summer is "Gulliver's Travels," in an edition handsomely illustrated and suitably expurgated for youngsters.

Nothing that Swift ever wrote in his "savage indignation" is half as ironic as the fact that his bitterly mordant "Gulliver" has become a book "for children." This was the least of his ambitions in writing it.

Actually, as biographers of Swift have pointed out, the manuscript of "Gulliver's Travels" was delivered at night to a Fleet Street printer in London, and published anonymously in 1726. It was considered dangerous to print, says Maxwell Geismar, "not so much for its uninhibited language as for its barely hidden political satire."

On the conscious level, Swift was attacking the entire "establishment" of his age—the monarchy and the Whigs, the churchmen, the diplomatic intrigues with and against France and Germany, the whole structure of political and social life.

To people in the know at that time "Gulliver" was a subversive if not seditious book. The allegory in the book was broad and obvious, and as cruelly venomous as Swift could make it. A man could be hanged for saying less than that in public.

Now, nearly two hundred years later, all the ridicule is forgotten. Nobody could care less whom Swift was castigating, and only scholars still bother to identify the characters with real persons.

It is the "unconscious" elements in the narrative that still grip the interest of readers—and mainly the element of contrasting sizes. All of us, when young, feel small and weak and vulnerable in the adult world and all of us wonder what it would be like to be a giant. It was Swift's peculiar genius in this book to tap the reservoir of our unconscious fears and desires, to articulate our anxieties and power drives.

All great works of art are written on one level by the author, but if they are to achieve immortality, they just continue to appeal to future generations on quite another level. Often, the author is unaware of this other level; and, in fact, if he is too aware of it, the art becomes marred and muddled by his conscious manipulation.

Freud once remarked that he hated to attend "psychological plays" in Vienna. What he meant was that playwrights should be content to tell a story, and should not offer a case-study of the workings of the mind. Art, like love, loses its freshness and potency when it becomes self-conscious, a playwright like Tennessee Williams, for instance, would be twice as effective if he had never heard of psychiatry.

In her marvelous, acute book some years ago, "Swift and Carroll," Dr. Phyllis Greenacre dealt extensively with the unconscious elements in the works of Lewis Carroll and Jonathan Swift (both of whom were deeply involved in the problem of "size.") As she suggests, if either of them had been aware of his motivations, neither "Alice" nor "Gulliver" would ever have been written. For Carroll, who thought he was writing for children, was writing for adults, while Swift, who thought he was writing for adults, was writing for children.

Castro Admits Red Initiative In Cuban Ties

Russians Offered Aid After Each U. S. Aggression

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Evidence just furnished from an unexpected quarter proves to the world how the Soviet Union has deliberately and of her own initiative invaded the western hemisphere as a means of carrying on the "cold war" against the United States.

Fidel Castro was amazingly frank when, in answering the questions of visiting newsmen a few days ago, he incriminated the Moscow government. He had been asked about how his relations with the Communists had developed. He said: "Facts and events forced Cuba into the Soviet sphere. When the first American aggression started Cuba and when the first agrarian reform began, Cuba did not have any diplomatic or commercial relations with the Soviet Union. But every time the United States attacked us, they (the Soviets) made offers and solutions and that is why we slowly began friendship and ties with the Soviet Union."

Moscow Regime

The Moscow regime has insisted right along that it came to the aid of Cuba only because the government in Havana requested it. This is a historic form of alibi for intervention but, in the case of Cuba, the world now knows that Russia took the initiative. Certainly the establishment of missile bases, fully equipped with weapons that could attack a large part of the territory of the United States, wasn't something dreamed up by Castro.

Unfortunately, the United States has been willing virtually to close the books on the episode ever since Premier Khrushchev in October 1962 promised the late President Kennedy that the missile bases would be dismantled and Soviet troops would be withdrawn. But the fact is that the government of the Soviet Union continues today to maintain a military force of its own in Cuba, and the missile bases can be reactivated at any time by the Russian "technicians" still on hand.

Johnson Administration

The Johnson administration has apparently decided to let matters drift, and to accept the assurances from Moscow that the troops will gradually be withdrawn. But nearly two years now have elapsed since the first promises were made, and they have not yet been completely fulfilled. It certainly shouldn't take two years to withdraw a few thousand troops.

While Soviet military personnel has been reduced, the UPI in a dispatch on Tuesday — attributed to administration officials here as the source — said: "The Russians are believed still in complete charge of the control center near Havana. This gives them a veto on any possible Cuban use of the missiles contrary to Soviet interest. Soviet Premier Khrushchev is believed to be reluctant to give Premier Castro complete control of the anti-aircraft missile system."

But why should any European government be keeping any of its missiles or other military equipment in any country in this hemisphere and controlling their use — especially on an island only 90 miles away from the coast of the United States?

Soviet Operation

The Soviet government, of course, continues also to operate its apparatus for subversion and espionage in many Latin American countries, including Mexico. It may be surprising to many people in the United States to learn that the Mexican government tolerates with revelations such as Fidel Castro's presence of Communist plotters and agents. Just this week the government of Mexico refused to vote diplomatic and economic sanctions against Cuba, even though a majority of the members of the High State and Federal agency officers were summoned to the Wisconsin capitol Monday by Gov. John Reynolds for discussion of a crash program for the relief of the economic problems of the Indian inhabitants of Menominee County. Among the main participants were, seated from left, Roderick Riley of the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs, and Frank Zeidler, director of the State Department of Resource Development, and standing, John Beale, head of the State Forestry Service, and Wayne McGown, of the State Department of Administration. (Wyngaard Photo)

Democrats Make Bold Try to Win Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The Democratic Party's all-out drive to capture the State Legislature from the Republicans has begun auspiciously.

The Democrats have produced candidates for state senator and member of the Assembly in more districts than have the rival Republicans who have maintained solid control of the Legislature during the recent years of Democratic possession of the governorship and victories in other statewide elections.

Louis Hanson, Democratic Party chairman, said the Democrats have defaulted in candidate filings in only one of the senate districts in which an election will be held in November, and in only one of the 100 Assembly seats to be voted upon in the fall.

The one default on the Assembly ballot, for the Sawyer, Rusk and Price county seat, will be retrieved through a write-in nomination of an available candidate in the September primary, Hanson explained. He said the candidate had failed to file his papers for the September ballot through an oversight.

Senate Race Vacancy

The Democratic Senate vacancy is in the Fond du Lac County district, where as a result Sen. Walter Hollander, widely known Republican incumbent, will win a new term without opposition. Republican headquarters has not yet completed its examination of the Republican filings, but a preliminary account indicates that the party will have Assembly candidates in 87 districts, and will field a candidate in all available Senate elections except one in downtown Milwaukee now held by youthful Sen. Martin Schreiber Jr., a Democrat.

Republican defaults were in Milwaukee County, where seven seats are apparently being forfeited to the Democrats and in Dane County, two seats, and one seat each in Sheboygan, Kenosha, Racine and Douglas counties.

Conversely, Republicans have again produced substantially more candidates for courthouse seats — where they have held a considerable majority for many years. Republican county slates are virtually complete. Democrats with about two-thirds of the county ballot places filled have produced candidates about equal in number to those who ran during the last three elections.

State Fall Red Cross Meeting Set

Officers and volunteer workers from some 80 chapters in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan are expected to attend the 1964 Wisconsin Red Cross Conference this fall in Stevens Point. The event is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11. It is announced by William C. Hansen, Stevens Point, general chairman.

Hansen became chairman when Max Hugheon of Wisconsin Rapids resigned in May to move to Nova Scotia.

President's Address
The theme of the gathering is "New Concepts in Red Cross Service." Sessions will be devoted chiefly to plans and procedures for the improved training of volunteer workers, and to discussions of standard uniforms for Red Cross personnel.

One of the highlights will be an address by Gen. James F. Collins, Washington, D. C. president of the American Red Cross.

The Portage County Chapter here will be the host organization for the conference, with chapters from Wood and Marathon Counties cooperating in planning for the event.

The program for Friday, Oct. 10, calls for pre-registration from 5 to 7 p.m., a chapter chairman's dinner, and a social hour, all at the Whiting Hotel.

Dinner Speaker
The dinner speaker will be John Cleary, Madison, state fund chairman for the Red Cross.

Saturday's events are scheduled at the Wisconsin State University Fieldhouse and the Science Building. An opening general session in the morning will be followed by workshops in five areas of Red Cross service.

After a noon luncheon in the gymnasium, the workshops will be repeated, with a general session slated for 4 to 4:45 p.m. featured by General Collins' address.

Senate Bill to Reveal Finances Sidetracked

Bobby Baker Case Will be an Issue In the 1964 Election Campaign

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, AP — You won't know for years at least how much income your senator may have in addition to his salary or where he got it, unless he volunteers the information. He is going to keep his outside financial interests, if any, to himself. That's the long and short of what happened this week when senators were confronted with various proposals that they reveal their income for public scrutiny. Instead the Senate supported an idea of Sen. Everett M.

all members of Congress and cratic majority in the Senate government employees making for years. He quit his job last above a fixed sum in salary be Oct 7. compelled to disclose their income assets and all dealings in securities and commodities. Congress brushed it off. The whole question got new life last year in the Senate's embarrassment of Bobby Baker, who had to investigate to see whether been secretary of the Democonflicted with his official new fortune of $447,840. He refused to testify and thus avoided answering any questions. The Senate additionally authorized investigation into the financial or business interests or activities of any officer or employee of the Senate but the Senate didn't authorize an investigation of any senator who might have been mixed up with Baker. The Rules Committee disclosed that while Baker's Senate majority pay was $19,000 a year he had accumulated a business fortune of $447,840. He refused to testify and thus avoided answering any questions. In its final report July 9 the committee accused Baker of "many gross improprieties." As a result of its work the committee proposed that senators be required to identify their outside financial interests. Specifically, this called for senators and Senate employees to disclose yearly their major outside financial interests but not the value of their holdings nor move by Clark to require a detailed listing of all holdings. The Senate squelched this. It came and gifts. So the Senate, did the same to an even tougher proposal by Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, who triggered the Baker investigation. He wanted senators and their employees to list each asset, in addition to disclosing their income tax returns.

The Senate also threw out a tailed listing of all holdings. It came and gifts. So the Senate, did the same to an even tougher proposal by Sen. John J. Williams, Delaware Republican, who triggered the Baker investigation. He wanted senators and their employees to list each asset, in addition to disclosing their income tax returns. Yet the Bobby Baker case will probably be an issue, and no doubt an unpleasant one, in this year's presidential race.

New Theory of Color Vision Revealed in Biophysics Study

OXFORD, England (AP)—blue color—sets up a current. You can see colors because the human eye contains millions of microscopic photoelectric cells, a scientist said Sunday. This is a new theory of color vision, advanced by Dr. Barnett Rosenberg, professor of biophysics at Michigan State University. The photoelectric cells are the cones on the retina or back of the eye, he said. They work just like photographers' light meters or electric eyes that open doors except that they are sensitive to changes in color, he told the International Congress of Photobiology. Current theory on color vision is that a chemical reaction takes place in the cones, generating a signal which is carried to the brain and identified there as color. But Dr. Rosenberg cites laboratory experiments indicating that seeing colors is a photoelectric process. By his theory, light waves striking the retina set up electric currents in the cones. Light of short wave lengths—
